Miller leadership shortlived: Eakins

Retiring Ontario Premier Bill Davis' 14-year record of leadership isn't likely to be matched by the premier designate Frank Miller, according to Victoria Haliburton MPP John Eakins.

"I have great respect for Frank Miller personally," Eakins said in an interview from his constituency office in Lindsay. "I've appreciated and enjoyed working with him".

"But I see Frank as more of a caretaker premier at this time, waiting for another convention".

Eakins said he based his view on the fact that none of the other three leadership candidates - Roy McMurtry, Dennis Timbrell or Larry Grossman - "were supportive" of Miller as delegates voting eliminated two of the three from the race.

The Liberal MPP also said that the extent of party support for the three unsuccessful candidates indicates to him that "some of the internal problems are not over".

"While they'll indicate that they are all united, I think in a short period of time we'll see there are some very serious problems, especially with Larry Grossman as treasurer".

Eakins noted that transportation minister James Snow was one of the cabinet veterans who supported Miller over Grossman, and suggested the reason was that road subsidy money was hard to come by under Davis and Grossman.

"Frank (Miller) will appeal to many rural people as a nice fellow well met, which he is," Eakins said, however, "I don't think he's going to have the leadership qualities that have been evident through the years, especially from (Leslie) Frost, (John) Roberts and Davis".

The local MPP said he believes many people may be wary of what they perceive as Miller's very right wing views. The new premier is still remembered as the man "who went around closing hospitals" during his tenure as Minister of Health in the mid-1970's.

If the Conservatives under Miller retain their majority position after the next election, the Muskoka MPP may turn out to be a one-term premier, said Eakins, "and I think that's the feeling some Tory People I've talked to have, because there are some very strong divisions within the party".

Miller's sympathy for the problems of rural Ontario was a factor at the convention that selected him, since many rural delegates supporting Dennis Timbrell cast their

vote for Miller in the final ballot rather than for Grossman, who appeared to have a strong urban bias and power base.

Eakins said he hopes that Miller's experience in Muskoka and his close involvement with the tourist industry will result in "a greater feeling for the needs of rural Ontario" than previous cabinets have shown. He said the Liberals will continue to press for recognition of the problems in Ontario's smaller municipalities.

While no date for an election has been set, Queen's Park watchers say it could come as early as April, and almost certainly by June.

Eakins has been nominated to contest the Victoria-Haliburton seat again, "and I'm certainly ready to go," he said.

"I feel that I've worked hard for the people (of the riding) and done a good job for them," he said. "We'll be ready to do battle".

A Conservative candidate has not yet been nominated, but at least two people, Lindsay lawyer Dave Murray and Minden businessman Larry McKnight, have indicated an interest in running for the seat.

Martha Corker was one of more than 50 Queen's Own Rifles reservists who took part in winter exercises in Snowdon Township over the weekend. Corker, a business student at Trent University in Peterborough, is shown at the command station from which officers in charge of the exercise kept in radio contact with the platoons travelling through the bush on snowshoes.

QOR militia seek out 'terrorists', fight dawn battle

Snowdon Township became an independent country over the weekend, but it was only for the purposes of army exercises, and it lasted only until 'terrorists' camped in isolated bushland had been routed in a dawn battle with Queen's Own Rifles militia.

The exercises were a low key affair carried out primarily on foot and well away from populated areas, but that didn't make them any less serious for the volunteer soldiers who took part.

Operations were directed from a command post near County Road One just north of Lochlin. Major John Hassock, who was in charge of the post, said two platoons of the 60th company of the Queen's Own Rifles, totalling about 50 men, represented the Canadian Forces, while some 15 members of the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment played the role of terrorists.

The QOR contingent had hoped to parachute into the exercise area from aircraft, but the planes and helicopters were unavailable so buses were used to transport troops to Snowdon Township.

At about 3 a.m. Saturday the two QOR platoons under the command of Lieutenant Steve Brand of Lochlin and Lieutenant Peter Lomasney, donned snowshoes and began a march into the bush pulling supplies and equipment on toboggans. The platoons remained in almost constant radio communication with the command post, and exercise plans were changed when progress through the deep snow proved slower than anticipated.

The QOR platoons' job was to find the 'terrorist' encampment and attack it at dawn Sunday morning. Weapons were loaded with blanks, and while no formal system was in place to determine 'casualties', the attack was monitored by company officers to determine which side gained the advantage.

Major Hassock, a 22-year veteran of regular forces who now serves in the militia, said the Lochlin area was chosen because it is "good, wild country", and because Lieutenant Steve Brand was able to obtain the necessary land clearances.

The venue provided new challenges to participants who had done most of their training at Camps Pettawawa and Borden.

Most of the reservists who took part in the exercises were from the Toronto area, but others came from smaller communities, including Brand and Martha Corker, a business student at Trent University who manned the command post radio.

The winter exercise was a rare opportunity for the reservists to test their skills and training in realistic setting. Since Canada is the only country in the western alliance which has no provision for time off work for military training, reservists must fit their training into vacations and weekends.

"It's a very difficult problem, and one which the government is trying to address," said Major Hassock.

Following the Sunday morning attack, the troops trekked through the bush from Miserable Lake to Kinnmount, where they boarded buses for the trip back to their homes.

Wolves kill bear in rare wildlife drama

Ministry of Natural Resources workers have found signs of a rare wildlife drama in the north eastern corner of Hindon Township.

Gary Lee and Jack Roberts found the backbone and other remains of a large bear which appears to have been killed by wolves.

Minden Fish and Wildlife Supervisor Dave Atkinson said it is the first time anyone at the district office had heard of such an occurrence.

Lee and Roberts followed tracks leading away from the bear's remains and discovered several places where the animal had battled that attacking wolves.

"It looked like the bear had fought them for some time," Atkinson said.

The two men were unable to determine how many wolves were involved in the kill, or why the bear was attacked.

"We don't know whether they got it out of its den, or whether it had come out on its own," Atkinson said.

He speculated that the bear must have been lethargic from hibernation "because he could have gotten

Minden reeve tested after apparent stroke

Event considered mild

Anson, Hindon and Minden reeve Lyle McKnight is undergoing a battery of tests in Peterborough Civic Hospital after suffering an apparent stroke.

Symptoms struck the Minden reeve on Sunday morning, but preliminary reports are that the stroke was a "mild" one.

Gary McKnight said Monday that his brother Lyle had not been feeling well for the past "two or three weeks" but that there was nothing to indicate he might be about to suffer a stroke.

Lyle McKnight was reported to be resting comfortably while further tests are performed to determine the cause and extent of the episode.

Hopes

The selection of Muskoka MPP Frank Miller to succeed Bill Davis as the head of the provincial Conservatives has been greeted with satisfaction by many people in the rural areas of Ontario. Miller's familiarity with the Muskoka/Haliburton area, his straightforward, personable manner, his broad experience as a cabinet minister in a number of tough portfolios, and his perceived sympathy for the Ontario that lies beyond the borders of Metro Toronto all appear to be good omens.

It is tempting to hope that Haliburton will be better off under a Miller administration than it has been under Davis, but that may be no more than wishful thinking. The serious problems of unemployment and inadequate transportation routes that have hampered the area's economic strength are not likely to be solved easily or quickly no matter who holds the reigns of power. And it would be wrong to give too much credence to what might be described as the 'bandwagon' argument, which says that if we want to 'get' anything we have to have a member on the government side. The record indicates that Victoria and Haliburton has been best served by members who are on top of the issues and play a key role in the governing process, no matter which party they represent.

The big question

Will it or won't it? That's the unspoken question in the minds of everyone who has had a hand in organizing this year's Haliburton Winter Carnival. Will the weather stay cold and wintry, or will the untimely thaws that have put a damper on three of the four most recent carnivals sweep over the area once again?

The weather is, of course, an uncontrollable factor, and all the wishing in the world isn't going to keep the high and low pressure zones from moving along their wind charted courses. But snow or the lack of it is only one factor that determines the outcome of the carnival. Equally important is the human factor, and it fortunately, remains solidly within our control.

In Haliburton, as in many other places, the enthusiasm that spawned the carnival in 1969 and that saw it through many successive winters, has perhaps begun to fade. The mere size of the community means that the number of people willing to plan, organize and administer the carnival is small. Time, it seems, is a precious commodity and the reward for those who give much of it to the carnival can only be paid in the currency of smiles and laughter.

If the carnival is to continue, (and it would be fair to assume that most people believe it should), the organizers must reap the satisfaction of seeing crowds at every venue and participants in every competition.

The carnival, is after all, an event whose only purpose is to break the drudgery of winter with a weekend of light-hearted fun. Do your part -- take part -- and the carnival is certain to succeed.

On letters

From time to time readers ask us what it costs to have a letter to the editor published. The answer is and always has been that there is no charge whatsoever for letters. They are a welcome addition to the newspaper and are always given a high priority. Only rarely is a letter not published in the week it is received, and only when space limitations make it impossible to do so. In such cases the letter will appear the following week.

The only requirements are that the letter be legibly hand written (it doesn't have to be typed), and that you be willing to stand behind your opinions by signing your name.

Taking time to say 'Thank you'

One of the unfortunate facts about the ever quickening pace of life today is that so few of us take time to say thank you to people who have in some way made our lives, or the life of the community, better. Here at the Echo we know how pleasing it can be to hear a word of appreciation for a story that piqued a reader's interest, an editorial that made an important point, or an advertisement that was particularly effective. At the Echo, as in every other public job, criticism is welcomed but praise, because it is rarer, is coveted.

And yet as editor, I am perhaps as guilty as anyone of failing to thank those people without whom our job would be more difficult, if not impossible.

Firstly, there are the correspondents in communities across the county who send a news column to the paper every week, reporting on the day to day activities of villages and hamlets. It is a difficult job, and only a very few people are willing to attempt it. That so many persevere is a testament to their skill and commitment.

Thanks also are due to the coaches, managers and other people who provide us with score sheets from hockey games or take the time to write a complete report. Without this kind of cooperation it would be impossible for me, as the paper's only reporter, to keep track of the local sports scene.

Two other Echo contributors who deserve a pat on the back are Virginia Muenzel, who never misses a deadline with her Northern Lights' column and never fails to come up with a witty and light-hearted look at rural life; and Catherine Denholm, who contributes the 'Question' column as her way to bringing important issues to the public's attention.

Writers of Letters to the Editor also are among the growing ranks of people who help make the Echo worth reading. The 'Letter's' column sparks a great deal of interest, and it is always available for readers' use.

And, finally, there are the people, notably John James and this week Gary Kenney, who contribute articles for the editorial page column, 'In My View'. These reflective pieces differ from letters to the editor but they are no less widely read and no less important as a forum for ideas that touch our lives.

So thank you to all who play a part in making the Echo possible. You may not hear it very often, but you're appreciated.

In my view ...

Fighting the 'Zucchini Syndrome'

By GARY KENNEY

One problem with living in Haliburton County, or any locale for that matter that is not confronted daily with the intoxicating metropolitan dramas of abortion clinic stake-outs, hate-literature trials, domed-stadium hassles, subway muggings, hourly opinion polls, and the other heady trappings of urban life, is the highly infectious rural malady known as Zucchini Syndrome. ZS is a disorder closely related to sleeping sickness with the singular exception that ZS victims are ambulatory. The most distinguishing symptom of ZS is an

This week I received a letter with a clipping from an old Peterborough Examiner newspaper from Mrs. Charles Drummond of Norwood, Ontario. The heading over the picture was as follows: "Business as Usual at Sidewalk Post Office in Minden". The photo appeared in the newspaper in 1942 when the village of Minden felt the heavy hand of disaster by fire when half the business section disappeared in smoke and flames. In the picture Walter Welch, postmaster at that time, is shown handing mail over to Dick Kirkwood, mail carrier, in front of a vacant store which was converted into a post office. Stanley Archer of Matabanack Lodge at Carnarvon is also shown in the newspaper photo with a Johnson fire pump that was used to help combat the flames. Archer gashed his hand smashing a window to get the hose on the fire. It is unfortunate that we are unable to reproduce a newspaper clipping picture for our Pic of the Past. We need the original photograph which in this case would be practically impossible to come by.

In the second section of this issue of the Haliburton County Echo you will notice all the up-to-the-minute news and views on what you can expect to do and see at the 1985 Haliburton Winter Carnival. Our thanks go out especially to the businesses who have placed advertisements in this section and by doing so have made this carnival supplement possible. The big winter event is coming up on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 15, 16 and 17, and this special section contains everything that you need to know about this year's carnival but were afraid to ask. We hope that you enjoy it and will read it from cover to cover. This special section on the Haliburton Winter Carnival is going out a week and a half ahead of the actual carnival dates. This gives not only the local citizens, but those who live in other communities outside of Haliburton County the opportunity of seeing the program well in advance of the big event. This year's carnival chairman, Rick Elstone, has assured us that there will be plenty of excitement and fun for everyone who will be attending. The carnival will be a great success if everyone participates.

We have just been informed that Halco Audio Visual in Haliburton, which is the authorized dealer for Radio Shack, is 17th in sales amongst all Radio Shack dealers in Canada. Congratulations are also in order to Halco Audio Visual who are second in sales in the area which takes in Northern Ontario and Quebec. Who was it who said business isn't that good in Haliburton and surrounding area?

Walt McKechnie, former National Hockey League star who is now retired from active duty and living at his home at Eagle Lake, had the honour recently of being chosen to play on Team All Star, a hockey club made up of retired NHL players. The ALL Stas met Team Canada in 1972 in a thrilling exhibition hockey game played before a sellout crowd at Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto. Team All Star came out the winner by the score of 6 - 5 with that old veteran Gordie Howe scoring the winning goal. Although he didn't score a goal Walt picked up an assist and told me later that playing in this game was a real experience for him and it also gave him the opportunity of meeting several of his old hockey buddies. The proceeds from the game went to an organization headed by Phil Esposito. Players who have run into back luck since their playing days and others who find it hard to cope after the cheering has stopped can turn to this group for help.

Still on the subject of sports I happened to notice in one of Milt Dunnell's columns in the Toronto Star that Doug Moore, icemaker at Maple Leaf Gardens, will prepare the playing surface at the world curling championships in Glasgow. Doug Moore is well-known in this area, having spent a considerable amount of time at the Haliburton Hockey Haven. Doug and his son spent many hours playing their guitars and singing for the boys who were attending the camp.

Congratulations are in order to the Rotary Clubs of Haliburton and Minden who can be quite proud of their record of raising a total of $28,000 with their Snowarama day held recently with the proceeds going to the Easter Seal Society of Ontario.

One day last week several people told me that they have noticed a beautiful large white swan which is apparently making its winter home at the head of Grass Lake at West Guilford.

In looking over the winter 1985 newsletter issued by the Haliburton County Home Support Services I noticed for example that over 300 meals were delivered through the "Meals on Wheels" program by Bessie Burk and her helper May Hicks during 1984 in the Gelert-Ingoldsby-Lochlin and Donald area. A total of 331 meals were delivered in the West Guilford area under the leadership of Ev Stata. In Minden Peggy Brown reports there were 1195 meals delivered by an average of 33 drivers. The Meals on Wheels program which is sponsored by the Haliburton County Home Support Services, has turned out to be a great help for those who are unable to cook themselves, a good hot meal.

Pic of the Past

Our thanks go out this week to Pete Valentine of RRI, Norlan', for submitting this week's photo for our Pic of the Past. He was cleaning out the archives in his mother's house in Norland when he came across this picture showing the main street in Kinmount in 1924. The village of Kinmount was a thriving place at that time as can be seen by the many business establishments located on both sides of the main street. Lumbering played a big part in the economy of the community at that time and the sawmills and lumber companies could use the railroad which ran through the village. In later years Kinmount was known far and wide as a great hockey town, town, producing many great teams and players. Although the population was small the hockey teams could stand up against strong opposition from villages and towns with much larger population.

In my view...

ZS sufferers are apathetic

unwavering intolerance of conversation beyond the depths of deer rifles, snow tires, hockey scores, brown lettuce and the weather. We all know at least one carrier of ZS and we should make it our community pledge to help that person beat it. The prescribed treatment of ZS includes no radiation therapy, no surgical entry, no herbal teas. It will take understanding, perseverance, and acceptance of no little amount of verbal abuse if we truly wish to eliminate ZS from the county. The good news is that it has been statistically proven that where ZS has disappeared so too have the insidious side effects of apathy, unconcern, and the insensitivity to the world around us.

Scientists have isolated the growth cycle of ZS and identified four distinct stages of infection: First, incubation best occurs in an environment that supports non-involvement for the most nutritious of reasons, i.e. "What's the use, I can't do anything about it; who is going to listen to me anyway?"

Second, ZS blossoms and thrives beyond belief when nourished with the coolest of philosophical reasoning, "I'm here for a good time not a long time."

Third, ZS matures and roots for succeeding generations when the host yields totally to the belief, "It's all going to come apart anyway so who cares?"

Fourth, ZS spreads seed and regenerates to the catchy tune, "That's their business, it's got nothing to do with me, let them look after it, I've got my own problems."

Perhaps the most dangerous aspect of ZS is the capacity for some carriers to camouflage their malady and appear quiet normal in their day to day activities. Evidence has shown that no field of endeavor, no profession, no group or organization is immune to the effects of such infiltration. When such moles have tunneled within they are largely invisible and only evidenced by the resulting lethargy of the surrounding group.

It is safe to say that ZS is not rampant in our community, and we can be proud of the involvement of our neighbours as individuals and as members of organizations and associations who really care what is going on around them. Yet there are some issues that seem untouchable even for avowed ZS fighters. As soon as subjects such as world peace, overseas famine, industrial pollution and the like are broached we seem too easily to adopt typical ZS postures. "It's being looked after by people who know what to do. There's too much information to digest, I can't handle it. Who is going to listen to me anyway? That's happening a million miles from here, what's it mean to the price of tea in Haliburton County anyhow? If it gets to be a big enough problem it will be solved...until then it's no big deal. Don't be so naive. What are you after eh? Stop making waves. Relax."

I don't buy any of it. The issues are understandable. The issues are solvable. The answers are with the individuals and no one has to become a professional politician to see them and act for them. Ambition has nothing to do with it except the ambition to live in a sane world. Making waves is the process, sound waves.

Our federal government now believes the Reagan "Star Wars" plan to defense Soviet missiles in outer space with lasers and neutral particle beams is worth supporting at the research level. Mr. Clarke has said so. Mr. Mulroney has said so. Darth Vader and the Death Star are no longer comic book theatre. President Reagan's three major Star Wars supporters (Zbigniew Brzezinski, senior advisor at the center for Strategic and International Studies, Robert Jastrow, physicist and founder of the Goddard Institute for Space Studies and Max Kampelman, head of the USA delegation to the latest arms negotiations) all concluded that, "As our strategic space-defense initiative (ASI or Star Wars Plan) expands incrementally, it should be realistically possible to scale down our offensive forces." They go on to say that if the Soviets and the USA both can defense each others missiles in outer space then there will be no incentive for either to attack first. We would then have peace. Polly-wog piddle.

To their credit these three gentlemen also said, "No significant public policy can be carried out in a democracy without being fully discussed and accepted by the public." That's an American statement that should, have had a Canadian equivalent before our federal government jumped in to support the Star Wars concept. What can you do? Plenty. First you can look up at the stars tonight and decide if you like the idea of permanent space stations orbiting overhead with the most lethal weapons mankind can devise on board to do battle a-la-Luke Skywalker. Next you can send a letter to Mr. Mulroney to tell him he is wrong to support such a scheme. Tell him to tell the USA and the USSR to use the upcoming negotiations to control the weaponry that is here on this planet today. Finally, you can write your local council, and county council, and tell them to put this issue on their agenda right beside the road closures, and snow ploughing costs. If we don't soon learn that is where world issues like military spending, famine, and pollution belong, right beside the road closures and snow ploughing costs, then it will be necessary for botanists to include a classification for the newest member of the plant kingdom...homo zucchini.

Queen's Park Report

by John Eakins, MPP

Lake on the brink of disaster

The question of a secret Environment Canada report stating that Lake Ontario and the quality of its drinking water are in imminent danger of "ecological collapse" was raised in the Legislature during the last session. According to the report, Ontarians are already being contaminated with unacceptable levels of toxic chemicals and unless immediate action is taken the situation will get far worse.

Opposition Parties at Queen's Park have obtained copies of the document, based upon which charges have been made of the province allowing the lake to turn into "a liquid Love Canal", "a poisoned chemical soup" and a "cesspool".

Liberal Deputy Leader Sean Conway, who participated in the allegations, expressed concern that when the report was actually released it would be in a "sanitized" version, and would not contain the same damning information which was included in the summary which had become available prematurely.

The document clearly shows apparently that Lake Ontario has become a health hazard to the four million people in the province whose drinking water comes from Lake Ontario.

In the Legislature, the leaked document...A Layman's Guide to the Niagara River Toxics Committee Report - The Canadian Position... was quoted quite extensively.

According to the document, some 57 of the 261 chemicals identified in the study have been detected in the Niagara River and Lake Ontario "at levels which are considered to pose a human health or environmental risk".

"It is clear that the whole Niagara River eco-system is being contaminated with a large variety of man-made chemicals, some of which are known to be individually dangerous and the combined effects of which are unknown".

The report's conclusion is that "current contamination levels are too high, and must be reduced to zero as soon as possible to avoid inevitable and irreversible environmental damage, the details of which cannot be accurately predicted".

We are warned in the study that if nothing is done, "inevitably concentrations of contaminants will rise to a level which will result in an ecological collapse of the lake".

Report from Parliament

By Bill Scott M.P.

Legislation extends allowance

Another of the proposals we brought forward last summer was tabled as legislation in the House of Commons on January 25. Hon. Jake Epp, Minister of Health and Welfare, presented a bill which will amend the Old Age Security Act to extend the monthly Spouse's Allowance benefits to all low-income widows and widowers aged 60-64. All low-income widowed persons in this age group will become eligible to receive the Spouse's Allowance regardless of when their spouse died. This will take effect September 1985. It is estimated that 85,000 widowed persons, mostly women, will benefit from this change.

On January 23, the Hon. Sinclair Stevens, Minister of Regional Industrial Expansion, announced the extension of the federal loan guarantee program under the Small Businesses Loans Act (SBLA) from April 1, 1985 to March 31, 1990. The Small Businesses Loans Act underwrites losses of business improvement loans made by chartered banks and other designated lenders to small businesses. Loan funds under SBLA can be used to purchase equipment; purchase, build, or modernize business premises and buy land for the operation of a business. Loans must be secured and repaid within 10 years. The maximum interest rate that lenders may charge is bank prime plus one per cent, the rate floating with the bank's prime for the term of the loans.

On a different note, I want to congratulate the Hon. Frank Miller, on his selection as Leader of the Progressive Conservative Party in Ontario. I am sure that his background and the fact that he comes from our part of the province will auger well for our relationship with the new Premier of Ontario.

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

I am writing to you on behalf of the children with the swollen bellies in war-torn Ethiopia. I am concerned that they might have been forgotten because we haven't recently seen the pictures of the mother crying, holding her baby as the child dies in her arms; the father who prays every minute of the day because he sees no end to his family's suffering. Their cry for help goes beyond today. Please remember them tomorrow.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC REGARDING FOREST MANAGEMENT ON CROWN LANDS

The Ministry of Natural Resources has now prepared a draft forest management Operating Plan for Crown lands of the Minden District for the period from 1985 to 1990. The timber on designated areas of Crown land is grown and harvested on a sustained yield basis to provide employment and forest products for Ontario's economy.

This operating plan lists the stands to be harvested and the cutting methods to be employed. It also includes an estimate of the timber yields to be obtained and a timber sales programme for disposal of the timber to the forest industry. Provisions for the restoration of cutover lands to full productivity and for resolution of specific land-use conflicts are also contained in this operating plan.

Persons and organizations who wish to review and comment on this plan prior to its approval may do so up to and including March 8, 1985 by contacting the District Manager, Ministry of Natural Resources, Minden, Ontario K0M 2K0, telephone 286-1521. Those persons who made submissions following the June 1984 notice will be advised of the outcome of their concerns.

Emmerson the loser in 19 goal shootout

It was shootout time at the Dysart arena on Monday night but the only thing wounded was goaltenders' pride.

Haliburton Lumber brought out their heavy artillery and won a decisive victory over league-leading Emmerson Lumber, handing the top team a 12 - 7 defeat.

Steve Cooper and Dwight Sisson fired four goals each to pace Haliburton Lumber while Gary Burtch and Pat Wilson were the top shooters for Emmerson Lumber, notching two goals apiece.

Haliburton Lumber got off to a fast start and had a 3 - 0 lead by the seven-minute mark on goals by Kevin Sisson, Steve Cooper and Dean Curry. There was a lull in the scoring action for the next 20 minutes, but with 1:54 remaining in the opening frame Dwight Sisson netted number four for Haliburton Lumber to give them what appeared to be a comfortable lead.

In the second period, however, Emmerson Lumber got their scoring attack in motion and narrowed the margin to a single goal by the nine-minute mark. Connecting for Emmerson were Steve Roberts, Gary Burtch and Pat Wilson.

With 8:40 remaining in the second frame Dean Curry got his second of the night to put Haliburton Lumber back in front by two goals. But the Emmerson squad was not about to concede the game, and they kept pressing in the late minutes. Phil Berry's unassisted goal with 7:31 on the clock narrowed the margin to a single goal once again, and with 3:15 remaining in the period, Gary Burtch fired in his second of the night to tie the score at five.

Haliburton Lumber regained the lead less than two minutes before the break on a marker by Joe Roberts.

If the pattern of past games was any indication, Haliburton Lumber had reason to be concerned that their hopes would be put to a severe test in the third period, since Emmerson Lumber had an 11 and one record going into the game. But the Haliburton Lumber squad came out fast in the final frame and managed to put the game out of reach in very short order.

In the first five minutes of play, Steve Cooper caught fire for three goals to give his team a 9 - 5 lead.

Near the mid-point of the period Emmerson Lumber organized a two-goal counter-attack, as Pat Wilson and Jim Burk made it 9 - 7. But Haliburton Lumber would not be denied. Dwight Sisson ensured the win with a three-goal effort in less than five minutes, giving Haliburton Lumber an impressive 12 - 7 victory.

Game two of the night was a somewhat more sedate affair around the goal mouths at least, with Curry Motors skating to a 5 - 2 win over second place Bishop and Wilson.

Derrell Stamp had a three-men.

Roy Scott opened the scoring for Curry Motors late in the first period, and Stamp got his first with 3:03 on the clock to make it 2 - 0.

Rob Abbs netted the only goal of the second period to put the motormen in front by three.

Derrell Stamp got his second and the motormen's fourth marker less than three minutes into the final frame, and it wasn't until 14:17 that the league's top goal scorer, Rick Wood, managed to put one on the board for the surveyors.

Stamp completed his hat trick with 1:49 remaining in the game, and Scott Hammond rounded out the scoring at 19:12 with the surveyors' second of the night.

League bowlers notch high scores as Asters lead

Bowlers with games 200 and over on January 30 were Joan Brown, 222, 233, 228, 683 triple; Ev Stata, 205; Sybil Hunt, 212; Iris Meredith, 203, 216; Marylou Bird, 276, 605 triple; Darlene Fearrey, 205; Kay Barry, 227; Freida Handy, 200; Joan McKay, 249, 220, 656 triple.

The Asters lead the third series with 11 points over the Forget-Me-Nots with 10 points. Petunias have 7 points, Daisies and Marigolds, 6 points and the Roses, 2 points.

Midgets gear up to face Fenelon

With two wins and a loss so far, Haliburton's OMHA Midgets are gearing up for the fourth and final game of their home and home round robin playoff series against Port Perry and Fenelon Falls. The local team will take on Fenelon Saturday night at the Dysart arena in a game that will set the stage for a best of five playoff series.

Haliburton had no trouble against Port Perry in the round robin series, but Fenelon has proved a tougher challenge, handing the local boys a 5 - 3 defeat in the series opener January 28 in Fenelon.

Jeff Poppo, Ian Cooper and Tom McLeod got Haliburton's goals, in strong second period effort, but it was not enough to overcome Fenelon's four-goal advantage. And in the third period, Fenelon notched their fifth goal to assure the win.

Last Saturday Haliburton was at home against Port Perry, and backed by solid fan support they made it look easy, driving in 11 goals while holding Port Perry to a single marker.

Scoring for Haliburton were Tran LaRue with a hat trick, Corey McKnight and Tom McLeod with two each, John Wells, Paul Kuno, Jeff Poppo and Glenn Hall.

In game three on Monday night in Port Perry, Haliburton once again came out on the winning end, although this time the score was a little less one-sided.

Glenn Hall and Tom McLeod put Haliburton ahead 2 - 0 in the first period, but Port Perry replied to

Atoms ahead after 15-1 win

The Haliburton Atoms first round of playoffs consist of a double round robin with Cannington and Beaverton. Monday night the local boys made their first road trip to Cannington and came home the winners by a 15 to 1 score.

Scoring for Haliburton were Derek Wilson with five goals and four assists, Greg Stamp with one goal and three assists, Jeff Black with two goals and three assists, Greg Brohman with two goals and two assists, Paul Hewitt with two goals and an assist, Mike Billings with a goal and an assist, Mathew Williams with a goal and an assist, Chad Bain with a goal, and Chris Greenfield with an assist.

Haliburton's next home game will be this Friday night against Beaverton. Over the season the boys have lost twice and won once against this team.

Last Friday the Atoms travelled to Fenelon Falls for an exhibition game. Derek Wilson opened the scoring at the 19-second mark of the first period with the assist going to Greg Stamp.

In the second Jeff Black connected with Stamp drawing the assist.

In the third period Derek Wilson connected for three more with assists going to Greg Stamp and Paul Hewitt. Stamp then connected with Jeff Black and Derek Wilson getting the assists.

Jamie Billings and Billy Smith shared the shutout.

The winners of the 'C' event at the Highland Mixed Bonspiel over the weekend was Steve Colliver's rink. Colliver, right, is seen following the trophy presentations on Sunday with the other members of his foursome, Merv Mintz, Linda Mintz and Sandra Oakley.

Monmouth Curling

Curlers dress up for mixed bonspiel

Highlight of the week's play at the Monmouth Curling Club, Wilberforce was the Adam & Eve Mixed Bonspiel held Friday and Saturday with most of the entrants donning costumes depicting the characters they were assigned. Although she failed in her quest for a prize, the absolute star of the show was Miss Piggy herself. Participants were only given a clue as to her real identity, but rumor had it that she was related to the big winner of the 'spiel'.

High three-game winner was Pa Kettle, ably played and superbly curled by Dennis Fiddler with great support from his rink of Ma Kettle (Debbie Nicholson), Dezi (Mike Collins) and Lucy (Denise Abrams).

High two-game winner was the foursome of Napoleon (Don Fevreau) as skip, Josephine (Judy Hogan), Rhett (Lou Valeriat) and Scarlett

Skiers say thanks for trails

By JIM MILNE

The Haliburton Highlands Cross Country Ski Club held their sixth annual Family Ski Day last Sunday. Enthusiasts converged on the PineStone Inn by skis and car for a swim and sauna, meeting and meal. The weather was fine and the trails are in excellent shape.

Glen Blair was presented with a plaque in appreciation for his fine work in maintaining the trails. The Glebe Park Loop will pleasantly surprise everyone but most especially those who remember it when it was first cut. It is double tracked and clear of brush -- one of the finest sections of trail in the area. The section through to the Beaconsbrook Hotel was recently bulldozed and will be fine when more snow falls. About a half kilometre of the Jim Beef Trail west of the Glebe Park Loop was also recently bulldozed and needs snow. If you are prepared to walk that short stretch, however, it is possible to ski the rest of the Jim Beef Trail. It remains a challenge for an experienced skier but it is also in good shape.

The club chose a new executive as follows: president - Dave Kennedy; past president - Karl Hartwick; vice president - Gary Burke; treasurer - Brenda Ellis; secretary - Terry Hartwick; trails supervisor - Bob Heyes; membership secretary - Glen Carter; members at large - Jim Andrews, Jim Milne.

The club is also sponsoring a Jackrabbit Program to encourage the development of skills by children ages 8 to 13. The group has met twice on Saturdays at 1:30 at the PineStone under Teppo Lehtonen's guidance.

Finally we would like to encourage all XC skiers to join the club for the fellowship you will enjoy but also to further the development of the trails.

The jeep... Chapter two

By VIRGINIA MUENZEL

Every so often in life, those things happen which, looking back on them a few years later, are quite humorous. But at the time no one is particularly amused. Now, I've only given Eddie a couple of weeks to cool off. Hopefully, he won't bother to read the paper.

You may remember "The Jeep". Well, fortunately or not, depending on how you look at it, it is still running (more or less). It runs less and has to have more repairs done on it.

Every time the snow piles up, Ed gets in it and starts it up with a thunderous roar. Whereupon the cats hide in the bedroom, the chickens all jump up on the perch, and the young trees all cringe. It still creates havoc. It drinks battery acid, billows smoke, and regularly spits out parts. Even the fire-engine red, '65 Chevy Nova gave up her life for it.

There were two emergency transplants done this year. Now the Chevy's starter and carburetor are slumming it in the "mean machine". Instead of buzzing through town in the little red tool box, they rumble around the yard, and up in the bush in the chair-lift red, brush painted, log totting, plow pushing jeep. With its door latch from an old cigarette making machine, its dump reject tires, and of course, the coffee can hydraulic fluid holder.

Oh, the shame of it. It stalls, with its backside hanging precariously out into the road. The plow is strangely attracted to parked cars. And it inevitably lures Ed into deep piles of snow from which he can't escape. Which brings us to its latest victim. Eddie's nice new, four wheel drive, mini-pick-em-up truck.

The jeep had somehow gotten itself stuck over a snowbank. David had wisely left the premises, so Ed was going to try to pull the thing out with the Pontiac. The jeep just dug itself in and laughed. Ed called his namesake, Eddie, who promptly came over, and confidently hooked up a very large chain from jeep to truck. They revved up the engines, and they pulled and stalled. The jeep was hung up with its frame over a rock.

Right about then, butcher Don came by to watch the festivities. He offered to go get Rick's regulation sized four-wheel drive pick-up truck, and drove off. But, in the meantime, not to be outdone, father and son spread some gravel under the truck's wheels. After all, there was a certain amount of ego involved. So, once again, they revved up the small Dodge truck. Tires spun, to no avail. Ed got out of the jeep to spread some more gravel. It was then he noticed the chain, instead of being connected, was laying along side of his son's truck, and he couldn't see Eddie.

He went up to the window and, looking in, saw Eddie, laying on the seat. "The &###? chain hit the window," he said, as he clung to the seat. Windows, would be more accurate. The chain had hit the front windshield when it snapped. Then, in one of those freak occurrences, had snaked back and hit the back window as well. Eddie quickly admitted defeat, and soon headed home with an air-conditioned, one-eyed bandit.

Before he left, the bigger truck had come and pulled the offending jeep off the rocks. The jeep rolled merrily down the driveway, missing Dave's

Speech is a child's great challenge

by SUSAN TAYLOR,
Infant Development
Consultant

It's no simple matter for a toddler to learn new words, it's an incredibly complicated task and he must work hard at it. Studies show as young children learn to recognize familiar objects and then to name them, they also start building general concepts and grouping things.

Eventually in categories your toddler will learn that balls can be big or small, hard or rubbery, red or blue, but they are all round and all bounce or roll. But before, he gets this concept down pat he's bound to call a few oranges & lightbulbs 'ball'.

Toddlers often refer to a variety of objects, actions and people or events by the same name if they have one or more important features in common. For example: your toddler greets every man he meets as "daddy"; "tree" may be used for leaves, bushes or forest; several things that make similar sounds (horns, sirens, birds) may be called "beep". When a child overextends the meaning of a word you may think he can't tell the difference between two things he calls by the same name. But often he can. Try this experiment to see if he can. Show your toddler a ball and a lightbulb (or any other two things he calls by the same name). Ask him to point to the ball. Chances are he'll point correctly.

Some children have a rush of words as soon as they begin to speak. But it's more typical for new words to come slowly at first. Around the middle of the second year the pace often picks up. Before your toddler is two he'll begin to put words together to form simple phrases. This is a real milestone, because it reflects your toddler's ability to conceive of and express relationships between two objects or events.

The following is a brief summary of the development of language from 1½ to 3 years. The ages given in this outline are averages of the ages most children acquire certain language skills.

1½ to 2 years
Expressive: - uses 2 word sentences ("more milk") - says 10-20 words (will not sound perfect - 20 to 25% understandable) - still uses jargon but it will sound like sentences - may use one word to express more than one thing (ie. "wawa" for "I want water" or "look at the water")

2 to 2½ years
Receptive (understand) - recognizes some body parts - select and bring objects on command - understands simple questions and up to 50 words - recognize pictures that he is unable to say the names of - know the idea of categories (ie. apple is food)

2½ to 3 years
Expressive: - Have stopped using jargon; - repeats words and phrases; - says p, b, m, n, d, i, o, and u; - raises pitch of voice for questions; - says 2 and 3 word phrases; - uses 50 or more words; - begin to use words like "me", "you" and "mine"; - ask for food and toilet; - have the beginnings of crude grammar ("I goed"); - use 2 word negative phrases - many lisp: "w" for "r" (wabbit); "th" for "s", (thoup)

Receptive: - select correct item from 5 choices upon request; - follow as many as 4 different directions; - enjoy hearing simple story; - begin to know difference between "you" and "me"; - wave bye bye at end of interaction; - point to several body parts; - understand many complex sentences.

2½ to 3 years
Expressive: - 65% understandable; - begin asking questions; - says sounds: p, b, m, n, d, w, i, o and u; - tend to overpronounce or exaggerate words; - speak in 3 or 4 sentences; - begin to say "I" instead of "me"; - mispronounce frequently; - name 1 colour; - lisp may continue.

Receptive: - begin to understand words like in, under and over; - seem to understand most of what is said to him/her; - begin to identify objects by use ("what do we eat with"); - attach meaning to numbers ("give me just one"); - choose between objects ("which one is the spoon").

Almost anything you do with your toddler during the day can lead into the kinds of conversations that will help him learn to talk. Toddlers love to look at books with a parent and the relaxed conversations you can have about the things you see on each page can be marvelous language lessons. You need only a few books to begin your child's collection. A book featuring large, simple pictures of animals or familiar household objects is a favourite first time book for toddlers. Your toddler will get the most enjoyment and learn the most from these books if you follow these simple guidelines: (1) point to the object your talking about (2) emphasize its name (ask your child to name it - although this may be too hard for some) (3) keep your descriptions short and simple (that's like the cup you get your juice in) (4) ask questions that involve him in the reading ("do you think it's filled with orange or apple juice").

The gamelike atmosphere of these language lessons will make it fun and easy for your toddler to learn from them.

February speakers planned

During the month of February, we are pleased to announce a number of speakers whose topics we know will be pertinent to you and your children. On February 6, Dr. Laurie

Brown will speak to us at 1:30 p.m. on "Your Children and Pets". We are very excited about the panel discussion which will begin at 10:30 a.m. on February 13. The topic to be discussed will be "Discipline" which is always a perplexing topic for many parents. Please come and share your thoughts and experiences with the panel. This presentation is being co-sponsored by the Haliburton Children's Aid Society. Dr. Gordon Smith will join us on February 19 at 10:30 a.m. to share his Naturopathic approach to medicine.

Finally, February would not be complete without a Valentine's Day party on February 14 starting at 11:00 a.m. Please bring sweets to share with your favourite sweethearts.

Every Friday will feature outdoor activities. Dress for warmth and fun!

This just highlights a few of February's events. Please check the classified section of this paper for a full schedule of activities.

Please remember that we have other service available besides the drop-in centre. These include equipment rentals, a toy lending library, children's storybook and parent's reference library. All drop-in facilities and activities are free to the user but you must be a member of CHACE to sign out toys and books. Membership fees amount to a dollar a month per family paid annually.

Curlers in costume vie for trophies

(Loretta Fantin).

The high one-game winner had to be decided by a shootout between four rinks skipped by Adam (Dave Nicholson), Sonny (Larry Strong), Dagwood (Clem Peters) and Popeye (Roger Hogan), with the draw and hit and roll competition being decided by a super shot to the button by Popeye's second, Superman (Guery Goyo) and timely shooting by vice, Olive Oyl (Donna Fevreau) and lead, Iona Hixson.

In mixed league play, Sunday and Monday, Fred Berning downed Don Fevreau 8 - 6; Roger Hogan came from behind with a six-ender to defeat Jack Watson 10 - 7; Chuck Lindsay overpowered Mark Smith 13 - 2; Gary Lanigan outshot Clem Peters 9 - 5 to climb into "A" division; Dennis Fiddler coasted to a 10 - 2 win over Dan Denault; Dave Nicholson overcame Bill Smith by a score of 8 - 5 and Chester Gadway needed an extra end to edge Roberta Walsh 7 - 6.

Entering the six-week final round of the mixed league regular season, standings are:

"A" Division: Fred Berning, 143 points; Don Fevreau, 126½ points; Roger Hogan, 126 points; Gary Lanigan, 122½ points.

"B" Division: Dennis Fiddler, 126 points; Chuck Lindsay, 121 points; Jack Watson, 119½ points; Clem Peters, 113½ points; Bill Smith, 95 points.

"C" Division: Dave Nicholson, 112 points; Chester Gadway, 101½ points; Roberta Walsh, 92½ points; Dan Denault, 87 points; Mark Smith, 84½ points.

In Tuesday night ladies' action, Judy Hogan vaulted into first place with a convincing 11 - 2 romp over Sandy Smith, while Roberta Walsh helped tighten the race with an 11 - 5 win over Jo-Ann Olszewski's rink.

Standings as of January 29 are: Judy Hogan, 43 points; Jo-Ann Olszewski, 37½ points; Roberta Walsh, 35½ points; Sandy Smith, 17½ points.

The results of Thursday's Industrial League play found Berning Construction keeping pace with the idyl Golden Ponders when they overcame Elephant Lake Lodge 7 - 5 while Hogan's Harvesters defeated Martin Lumber 11 - 5 and Barr's General downed the Legion 9 - 4.

Men's Industrial League standings as of January 31: Wilberforce Golden Ponders, 53½ points; Wilberforce Berning Construction, 51½ points; Harcourt Elephant Lake Lodge, 30½ points; Gooderham Barr's General, 30½ points; Highland Grove Hogan's Harvesters, 24 points; Wilberforce Legion, 23½ points; Harcourt Martin Lumber, 21½ points.

Correction: A typographical error slipped into last week's column. The word 'enemies' should have read 'nemesis'. The Echo regrets the error.

Senior League

By Bert Harrison at Hyland Crest Home

Saturday afternoon at carnival time the Millbrook band entertained us in the auditorium, which was surely fine. Then Earl Cooper played the bag pipes which we enjoy so much. He surely can play them; he really has the touch.

We didn't join in the carnival parade, we had no one to drive the bus. We were really disappointed, but didn't kick up a fuss. The weather was just perfect, at this carnival time. It makes such a difference when the sun does shine. It was the Kinsmen carnival and I guess by the rumours we hear, it was a real success.

Over the weekend here everything was running fine, with relatives coming and going, nearly all the time. I go down to the nursing station with an excuse to soak my feet. I really go there, my nurse to meet. They always look so neat, especially nurse Bailey. She always looks so neat and sweet, I could hug her daily. Edna Cowan has gone again for a week's holiday.

Her roommate Lillie Hogg is really lonesome while Edna is away.

Doris is still under doctor's care. She won't be back until February 4. Her sister Linda is carrying on loyally while Doris is away.

In the chapel service Sunday night, the Thompsons were there, Ruth to play the music, Harold to read the lesson and lead us in prayer. Then Rev. Burgess, bless his heart, always has an interesting message to impart. I'm sorry for Beth Parker; now she wasn't in a scrape, but fell somehow and broke her knee cap.

Captain Guy Bulmer and his wife Linda of the Haliburton Salvation Army came down to Hyland Crest this lovely January 29 day and conducted a very impressive service for us. Thank you for coming, we would like to say.

Linda showed us three movies Tuesday afternoon which was quite grand; Tatoo sixty-seven, City Port London and Changing Greenland.

To entertain us Tuesday night, came Everitt Fearrey and Terri Lyn, who played and sang for us. We thank them for coming and look forward to when they will come again.

Wednesday morning at 8:45 the fire alarm went off, which gave us all a start. It is hard on people who have trouble with their heart. We have a fire alarm that rings without fail, but it is hard to get out in winter in your shirt tail.

Down at fun and fitness on this January day, Tedd Carr won the dart game which we all did play. Playing bucket ball the day before, Wilbert Sisson got the highest score.

Thursday afternoon the lunch was brought in and served by member of the Minden Kinette Club. It was so good, you can almost taste it yet! We also had a birthday party for January, with a birthday cake made by Yvonne Nye. It was so good too, you couldn't pass it by.

The bingo callers Thursday night were Larry, Amyott and Warren Payne. Thank you for coming boys, please come back again.

Friday morning down at fun and fitness playing horseshoes, which we did many times before, Carrie Jones marked up the highest score.

Friday afternoon it was sing song time again. Grace came to lead the sing-a-long, Fred Ballard the music to play. Grace Cobourn comes to us each week. She seldom lets us down. We hope some day in that far off land, she will wear a golden crown.

The better a woman looks; the longer the man does.

Question

Are we on the right track?

By CATHERINE DENHOLM

Tobacco companies will not be allowed to sponsor amateur sports after their present contracts run out. Breweries and any alcohol producing company will be encouraged to continue and to increase their sponsorship of young people's sports.

Television is said to be an innocuous medium where violence, guns, death and blood have little effect upon viewers. Advertising on the superbowl game broadcast cost one million dollars for one minute.

In an Ontario court people are having to relive the agony of the holocaust where millions were tortured and died because someone, again, prints anti-semitic literature.

The defence department is considering sending used military equipment to Greece. Canada is already supplying Turkey - Greece's rival in that part of the world - with aged jet fighters.

There are new jobs now at Lytton Industries in Toronto since they received new contracts from the United States and Switzerland. They will make guidance systems for war machines.

Canada will support the Reagan administration's space research program because research must continue so that we know more about the solar system. Last week the space shuttle went into space on a top-secret mission under the direction of the military. There has been no information, about its load, given to the American people or to other countries. It is believed to be the first of several secret flights which will put spy satellites in space.

car by a hair's breath, (Dave should have stayed away five minutes longer). Gears gnashed, and Ed climbed down out of the jeep muttering something about a broken universal.

We now have a two-wheel drive beast. Ed has spent a lot of time down cellar hunting for his Clinton '65 auto repair manual, and is scanning the dump for parts.

That's the story, honest injun. Eddie might see the humour in it next year. But I'm afraid, right now, he still remembers having the living be-jeebers scared out of him, to say nothing of the aggravation of being without his vehicle for several days, while waiting for replacement windows.

It really could have been worse. But no one was hurt. I think God sends guardian angels to watch over men and boys when they play with their toys.

Midgets to face Fenelon in series

make it 2 - 1 at the end of the first frame.

In the second period Haliburton notched another one as Corey McKnight connected.

McKnight scored another one in the third period, while Tom McLeod accounted for two more to complete a hat trick.

Port Perry managed only one marker in the third period, giving Haliburton a 6 - 2 win.

This Saturday's game should be an exciting one, with both teams hoping to establish the psychological advantage of a convincing win before the best of five series gets underway. Haliburton and Fenelon have been evenly matched throughout the regular season, so it may take the full five games to declare a winner.

Game time Saturday night is 8:30 p.m. at the Dysart arena.

THE HALIBURTON COUNTY ECHO AND MINDEN RECORDER

Dorset News

By Phyllis Briscoe

"Let us be of good cheer, remembering that the misfortunes hardest to bear are those which never happen".

I wonder how universal it has to be that the ground hog sees his shadow? If he sees it in Dorset but not in Burk's Falls what is going to happen? Or does it all depend on what happens in Punxatawny, Pennsylvania? Or do we have winter until the end of March regardless of what happens? There is only one way to find out, just wait and see. With all of the cold nights we have experienced in the last few weeks it is hard to believe that the ice is still unsafe but the experts proclaim that there are air pockets scattered throughout the ice area where one can drop through. So we also warn that for the sake of those who love you, as well as your own sake, be careful and don't venture on the ice unless assured by a reliable source that it is safe.

The Anglican Lake of Bays Mission Churches held their annual meeting on Sunday, January 27 at St. Mary Magdalene, Dorset. There was a Communion Service, with members from the Baysville and Port Cunningham congregations as well as Dorset attending. This was followed by a business meeting at which Ron Richardson resigned as treasurer of the Mission, a position he had held for many years. He was thanked for his many years of service, in behalf of the three churches, and given a presentation by Welton Tracey, church Warden. A pot luck luncheon was enjoyed by the group, held at the rectory.

The foot clinic will be held on Wednesday, February 20 at the Dorset school. Call 766-2237 for appointment.

It has been a good many years since we have had a Conservative Party Leader from the District of Muskoka so I guess we can be justly proud. Marlene Shortreed, a Dorset resident, was a delegate for the Haliburton region and attended the P.C. leadership convention held in Toronto on January 26. Marlene enjoyed the whole spectacular event and says it was a super experience that she wouldn't have missed for anything. Among other things of interest she attended the Women's Forum sponsored by Roy McMurtry, shook hands with Bill Davis and had a short conversation with him, talked to many delegates from other parts of the province and was surprised how many knew of Dorset, either had summer homes in the area or had visited here. Many of the people she talked to knew people in Dorset and highly praised it for its beautiful scenery and friendly people. Marlene is convinced that people in general are a pretty nice lot. Everyone she encountered are courteous and friendly and was made to feel at ease even in the company of delegates for other candidates. She felt that the young people deserved a great deal of credit as they were very active from morning till night, carrying placards and singing the candidates' songs, when some of the adults were getting weary. So I guess if anyone gets the chance to attend a leadership convention they should take advantage of it, as it is a worthwhile experience.

The bad colds and flu are still going the rounds so stay out of crowds and don't go out without your snuggles.

We have some February birthdays to celebrate. Best wishes to Ellen Avery on the 8th and to Julie Moulton on the 9th. Anniversary wishes to Rhoda and Walt Taylor who will be married 56 years on February 9. Isn't that great and may they have many more.

Wilberforce News

By WINNIE SCHOFIELD

Cliff Daniels who has resided in Wilberforce for many years died last week at the age of 78. Cliff spent most of his life in the Toronto area where he was the eldest of a family of three boys and two girls. Cliff will be remembered for his good natured ways and his willingness to lend a hand when needed. A memorial service was held in Wilberforce at the church of St. Margaret's. The body was cremated. Cliff leaves a wife and two daughters.

Through the years we have watched many of our young people grow up and move away. They are still remembered as likeable youngsters with a bright future ahead. One of these was Robert Wallace who finished school and moved away. Robert suffered a heart attack and died at the early age of 34. He had been living with his wife and daughter in Toronto. Our sympathy goes out to his mother and sister Dawn Anderson.

You may soon receive a visit from a Girl Guide or a Brownie as they are busy at this time taking orders for their famous cookies. If you have never sampled a Girl Guide cookie, you should try them. You will be pleasantly surprised at the excellent flavour and will also be contributing to the club. Remember also to cut out and save the labels from your Campbell soup and Franco American cans and give them to the Guides. This simple task will bring happiness to many.

In the Tri County hockey games held on Saturday the Wilberforce team had a win over Maynooth with a score of 8 - 5. The team of Martin's won a game from Pharmacy. Our minor hockey efforts seem to be in a slump this year with too few players. Very little encouragement is offered by fans who just don't attend the games. In a couple of weeks the annual Gary Agnew Memorial hockey tournament will be held. It is to be hoped that the usual good crowd will be on hand to cheer the team.

There was a fun-filled curling bonspiel held on Friday and Saturday when the players, wearing costumes and wigs, impersonated such well-known characters as Kermit the Frog, Eve - our very first lady, Dagwood and Blondie, Ma and Pa Kettle, Romeo and Juliet - Wilberforce style, and the sensation of the occasion Miss Piggy in decorated, long, pink gown. Most of the people taking part in the bonspiel were not regular members. They seem to have really enjoyed their introduction to curling.

Coboconk news

By SHEILA LAKE

It sure does not look like the ground hog will see his shadow today. It's very cold this Saturday morning as I write, but very cloudy. I'll bet a cookie, he will see his shadow though, because, somehow, the sun always manages to shine sometime during the day on February 2 - groundhog day. Right? Sure, we are bound to have another six weeks of winter - It never fails!

Clare Fielder is home from hospital, and doing very well after hip surgery in Peterborough. Keep up the cheerful smile, Clare. You will be better than ever very soon.

Willie Schell was admitted to Toronto General Hospital on Thursday for surgery. I trust you have a short stay, Willie.

The local horse enthusiasts, (and they continue to grow) enjoyed the heavy draft horse sale at the Toronto Exhibition Grounds in Toronto on Wednesday. Grant Quinn, Earl Powell, George Shepherd, Ted Garrels, Don Young, Ross and Lenore Richmond, Ingram and Isobel Wessell and Grant Lake, accompanied by Hartley Newell of Gelert and Joe McFeeters of Fenelon Falls were some of those in attendance.

The same day and January 30, yours truly accompanied by Mary Snodden and Millie Moss, journeyed to Toronto to the Airport Hilton Hotel where we attended the annual Avon President's Club luncheon and awards. We had a fun and renewed acquaintances we have not seen for a year. Other years we have gone to the Nottawasaga Inn at Alliston, so this was a first time dinner at the Airport Hilton.

Winners in the Coboconk seniors card games held in Coboconk Community Hall on Tuesday night were as follows: euchre - ladies first, Robinette Harding, 71; second, Jenny Calhoun, 69; most lone hands, Laura Irvine, 30; consolation, Eleanor Hannah, 50; gent's first, Ziggy, 75; second, Barbara Walker, 73; most lone hands, Barbara Walker, 5; consolation, Tony Kenneth, 41; bridge first, Helen Gillis, 5520; second, Barbara Kenneth, 5350; consolation, Joe Heffer, 1320.

Our snow is still holding and next Sunday the sleigh rides at Balsam Lake Provincial Park will be in full swing. Get out and enjoy the beauty of nature.

Mrs. Ruth Rutter and Garnet enjoyed a visit from Harold Rutter of Scarborough last weekend.

Isobel and Ingram Wessell are busy raising an orphan Belgium colt. The colt was born last Sunday, January 27 and its mother took ill and had to be destroyed on Thursday - very heart-breaking indeed.

The Everett Cameron's and son Gary returned from a two-week holiday in Florida on Wednesday.

Mrs. Heather Hirstwood enjoyed supper with Clair Brooks at Lutterworth Pines on Thursday night, then later attended a baby shower at Minden.

Those who were able to attend the carnival at Minden last weekend report a fun day.

I hope you are managing to keep warm on these winter days.

Petra Pequegnat is home from her month in Florida.

Congratulations to Shane and Linda Sisson on the birth of their son, Ryan on January 31 at Kingston. Heartfelt thanks are being offered for his safe arrival at the tender weight of 3 lbs. and a few ounces. Mother and baby are being moved to Peterborough Civic Hospital prior to coming home.

Mavis and Ron Elstone visited Mrs. Keith Sisson on the weekend.

The Minto family of Waterloo came home to visit the Jones' on the weekend on the occasion of Leon's birthday.

Camp Medeba is busy on weekends with groups such as Salvation Army youth and Baptist groups from Toronto or Menonite Brethren from Niagara-on-the-Lake over the winter. Every other weekend the youth of this community is served by planned activities at Medeba such as tubing, bowling, swimming at a lodge, or pot luck supper. Results of Galway Wednesday night euchre: ladies' high: Ruth Menard, ladies low: Marie Thayer, men's high: Doug Drinkle, men's low: Frank Franzen, most long hands: Muriel Nightingale.

Happy birthday to Tom Yates, Doug Drinkle, Jim Nightingale, Ken Young, Flo Drinkle, Bill Moss Sr. and Marie Card who all celebrate their special day in the month of April.

A number of Avon ladies from this area spent their day last Wednesday, January 30, at Toronto Airport Hilton. A luncheon of stuffed cornish hen was served and many awards were handed out to President Club members who had achieved sales records. It was a lovely day and on the way home, we stopped in at a donut shop where I met Eileen and Hurley Bennett of Kinmount. I'm beginning to feel somewhat like my son. He goes few places where he isn't recognized.

I hope Alex Graham is feeling better soon and also Clyde Parry is suffering from an old foot injury. Get well soon "fellas".

Snowmobilers sure have been in force of late.

I'm glad to hear Cindy Hill is home from hospital following an appendectomy.

I've never tried this one but may give it a go one of these days. It sounds good and is called "Pineapple Mounds": 1/2 pound marshmallows, cut in pieces, 1/2 cup grated pineapple, 1/2 pint cream, 1/2 cup nuts, 1/2 cup graham cracker crumbs. Drain the pineapple and add the marshmallows. Let stand 1/2 hour. Whip the cream and fold into the pineapple mixture. Let stand for 1/2 hour. Add the nut meats. Let the entire mixture stand another 1/2 hour. Drop the pineapple mixture in mounds in the cracker crumbs. Place the cracker covered mounds on wax paper and set in the ice box until ready to serve. How can you tell it's from an old cookbook - ice box?

Well folks, quite a number of you, over the years, have told me you appreciate the column and I have enjoyed writing it but when one person and one person only gives you an item to insert it's not worth the postage it takes to mail it. Another gent asked me Friday evening when the column had to be sent out as he had a couple of lengthy articles he wished included. As I was not at home at that time I told him he could leave it Saturday morning in a wall container in our front entrance.

It was agreed and as I write this, it is 11:05 a.m. and this must be at the Post Office in another ten minutes. No answer to two phone calls and no articles. In order to write your news you must tell it to me. Otherwise folks, this is a goodbye column. It's up to you.

Call me at 488-2353, stay well and happy and remember: never invite trouble - it will accept the invitation every time.

Happy birthday to Violet Packard on Wednesday, February 6. Have a good day and many more of them.

The winners of last Thursday afternoon's card party at St. Paul's Anglican Church were the following: lone hands, Joyce Hewitt; others were Martha Mansfield, Gladys Wruth, Sid Rowe and Joe Dollo.

The Rotary bingo winners of the Nevada were Margo Sisson, John Kernohan and Roy Sawyer. Full card was Linda Hamilton. There will be a special annual Rotary bingo at the Minden Community Centre on Tuesday, February 26 at 7:30. It will be for chickens, all kinds of prizes and surprises.

Charlie Palmer is out of hospital. He dropped in for a few minutes last Sunday, and still isn't feeling the best. We hope you are feeling better soon, Charlie.

Mary-Lou, Carl, Jennifer and Jeffrey Packard of Haliburton, visited for awhile last Sunday. They stayed over for lunch and we talked Mary-Lou into going horse back riding. I had a call from her this morning and she told me she had a few sore muscles.

There will be stock car races on ice at the Minden fairgrounds Saturday and Sunday, February 9 and 10 from 12:00 noon until 4:00 p.m., with free admission for spectators.

A happy 100th birthday to Ellen Knight on Wednesday, February 6. Her family and friends are invited to attend tea in her honour at Hyland Crest from 2:00 p.m. to 4:15.

Mary MacDuff had her daughter Adrienne Read and family visit with her last Saturday.

Thought for the day... Hardening of the heart is more serious than hardening of the arteries.

If you have any news for me to include in my column please call 286-3607. Thank you.

Happy birthday to Kathy Buker on Friday, February 8.

There will be public skating every Tuesday at the Minden arena from 1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. all during February. Everyone is welcome. Cost is $1 per person.

Household Hint...Lint: Wrap a piece of scotch tape around the back of your hand (sticky side out) and rub the sweater with this it will remove the lint.

Have you been to see the paintings by Dr. Agnes Jamieson, Andre Lapine and others at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery? They will be on exhibit until February 23. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Saturday.

Don't forget the Minden Kinette Club's Valentine dance at the Minden Community Centre on February 9 from 8:30 to 1 a.m. $5. per person. There will be door prizes and spot dance prizes.

Recipe for the week: Potato Topped Meat Loaf. 1 pound minced beef, 1/2 pound minced pork, 1/2 pound minced veal, 2 1/2 cups crushed corn flakes, 1/2 cup evaporated milk, 2 eggs, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon sage, a few grains of pepper and hot seasoned potatoes. Combine beef, pork, veal and corn flakes. Beat eggs and add meat mixture with salt and pepper, sage and milk. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F) for 1 hour. Unmold. Frost with potatoes. Bake in a moderate oven until the potatoes are browned. Serves 8.

That's all for this week. Drive carefully and keep well. I hope to see you all next week.

I hope you had a great week.

Those of you who own a VCR or often rent them will be happy to know that a new video store is opening in Coboconk. Leon's Video Place is opening its newest outlet on main street across from Shield's Hardware. On the first opening day, February 1, free coffee was served. It definitely seems as if this place will be a great asset to our community. If you wish to telephone for reservations you may call 454-1443.

For those of you wishing to break into show business, here's your big chance. Boys and girls in this area are wanted to help form a youth band. Applicants must be seventeen years of age or over, so if you can sing, play the guitar, piano, violin or drums give Monica a call at 454-8234.

Last Thursday, January 31, Coboconk Public School held its annual winter carnival. The carnival consisted of games and relays carried out by teams of students from grades kindergarten to six, headed by staff members. Some of the crazy events included snow sculpture, tug-a-war, multi-legged races, snow basketball and pushing a ping-pong ball through the snow with your nose! The winning team was headed by Mr. Perras, the school's French teacher.

The grades five and six from Norland Public School went on a ski trip recently.

On February 12, 13 and 14, Coboconk Public School Library is having a book fair. It will run from 10:30 to 4:30 and the public is more than welcome to attend. Proceeds will go towards new library books.

The staff of both Norland and Coboconk public schools wish to know of any child in the area turning five in 1985 so they may get approximate figures on the number of kindergarten students next year.

I hope everyone remembers the sleigh ride at Balsam Lake Provincial Park on February 10 at one o'clock p.m.

Mr. Dressup is coming to Lindsay! Yes, he and his friends Casey and Finnegan are coming to the Academy Theatre on February 13. The tickets are $4 advance and $5 at the door.

News on Norland's soon-to-be-built recreation centre: tenders are now being let by the consultant engineer, Pete Valentine.

Here are the euchre and bridge scores from last week's senior citizens games - euchre: ladies - first, Robinette Harding; second, Jenny Colquhoun; lone hands, Laura Irvine; consolation, Eleanor Hannan. In men's euchre - first, Ziggy Kwasnik; second, Barbara Walker; lone hands, Barbara Walker; consolation, Tony Kenneth. In bridge - first, Helen Gillies; second, Barbara Kenneth; consolation, Joe Heffer.

given second and third readings and passed.

Gary Kenney requested a brief status report on the following transactions:

1. Shoreline allowance closing, Lots 21 and 22, Concession 2, Minden (Hill). The clerk advised that the solicitor is waiting for a reply from the applicant and that no further action can be taken by the municipality until that time.

2. Roadway, Plan 357, Bob Lake. The clerk confirmed that an estimate of the amount of land required to expand parking facilities has been made and an offer to acquire the necessary land will be made shortly. Legal fees have been paid to the solicitor involved on behalf of the cottagers' association.

3. Brady Lake access points. R.C. Schell will be submitting scale drawings on the various sites to council at the next meeting.

4. Block A, Plan 561, Soyers Lake. The municipal solicitor will be making a progress report to council at the next meeting.

The question of establishing a ward system will be presented to electors at the next municipal election.

The basement committee room will be offered for rent to the Chamber of Commerce for office use by the LEADS program staff.

A discussion ensued regarding the representation of this municipality on the management committee of county council, which is responsible for budget preparation, in the light of the fact that this municipality pays a significant portion of the total county levy. Concern was expressed over the opportunity and time afforded to all County Council members to comment on the various portions of the budget prior to the presentation of the final budget for adoption.

From the Chamber

The arts and crafts community of Haliburton County make a significant contribution to our local economy as well as enhancing the quality of life of our residents and visitors.

The Chamber of Commerce, in recognition of this contribution, has arranged a special membership for artists and have incorporated artist studio tours into their market plan for 1985.

A special meeting has been arranged for Monday, February 11, at 1:30 p.m. at Sir Sandford Fleming College in Haliburton. At this meeting we will introduce the programme and exchange ideas. Anyone involved in arts and crafts should plan to attend. This programme is at the formation stage now, and we welcome your ideas.

Sportsmen's Show

The Sportsmen's Show will open in Toronto on March 15. All members wishing to display their brochures, or to participate in the show, should contact the Chamber office as soon as possible. 286-1760.

New Members

The Chamber welcomes the following new members to the association.

Amelia Corporation is owned by John and Jean Wittman of Spruce Lake, Haliburton. This company manufactures umbrella enclosures that keep out black flies and mosquitoes, allowing you to enjoy your patio to its fullest during the beautiful summer months. Mrs. Wittman tells us the umbrella enclosure will possibly be displayed at Newbatt's in Haliburton.

Pine Ridge Inn, R.R. #1, Norland is now owned by Tom Ecclestone and Steve Lacey. It is located at Miners' Bay on the shores of Gull Lake. We wish the new owners luck in their new venture.

Rip's Sleepy Hollow, owned by Brian and Charlotte Watts, is located on the west side of Pine Lake, a quiet place to rest in a picturesque setting with acres of playground for children and a clean lake for swimming, fishing and water skiing. Pick up one of their colourful brochures at the Chamber of Commerce office. It's the one with the intriguing picture of Rip Van Winkle.

Paul Petric Construction Ltd., Box 733, Minden is owned and operated by Paul Petric 489-2233. Mr. Petric is engaged in log and timber construction, and is located at Concession 9, Lot 18 & 19, Minden.

Paudash Trail Blazers Snowmobile Club covers a wide area of trails servicing the Cardiff, Wilberforce, Harcourt, Tory Hill locations and is run by a group of dedicated snowmobilers. For brochures and rates, call the Chamber of Commerce office at 286-1760 or for information regarding the club and trail conditions call Vic Poulin 705-448-2810.

Lutterworth Valley Trailer Park is owned and operated by Ingram Wessell and is located near the Haliburton Boundary above Norland, off Highway 35. There are over 50 sites available. We welcome them as new members and wish them well in the coming season. For more information call 454-8191.

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

By MIKE SINGLETON

Backdropped by winter's chill, there's a romance to lazing before a crackling fire, watching logs roar up the chimney. But, for those who'll pause a moment, that firewood has another - ever more interesting - story to tell.

Every piece recounts tales. Of dry summers and wet. Of forest fires and insects. Many recount lightning strikes, or bitterly cold days when frost burst the tree's very heart.

Others tell of life's little mysteries. Of special adaptations. Or complete, little-world microcosms, with fascinating, predatory beetles and prey, and finely structured animal communities.

Take a lowly piece of elm, now in my hand, sawn from the crumbling giant 'out back'. In remarkable measure, it can recount its complete life history, precisely because it laid down a new ring of wood every growing season. Looking carefully, the large rings recount long, wet springs. And the wizened, little layers tell of the drought years in the '20s and '40s. The unmistakable black, overlain by years of crinolinelike scare recall the forest forests of 1873 and 1922, and the tree's struggle to recover. A sudden spurt of growth that began when the tree was 11 years, suggests that a neighbouring tree fell - perhaps in a mighty storm - allowing growth light through the forest canopy. And the sudden spurt, which endured the tree's last 20 years, tells of agricultural clearing, which freed more water for this elm's growth.

It's sobering to realize that many such trees were already growing when development of the province began. Indeed, at confederation, many of today's stately giants were already in middle age.

I feel a certain remorse when a tree of such stature dies. Yet, the death of a single, old tree is not necessarily sad, nor the end of the tree's role in nature. To the contrary, the periodic death of such individual trees allows rejuvenation and helps to maintain the forests as a patchwork quilt of different habitats. That patchwork, in turn, provides the very basis for diversity, and health, of countless species.

Moose hunt expands in '85

Minor changes in Ontario's 1985 selective moose hunt program will give residents and non-residents more hunting opportunities this fall.

Other than that, this year's moos hunting -- which begins October 5 in most areas of Ontario -- is much the same as last year.

Changes worth noting:

- Seasons have been set in regulation so that they need not be changed from year to year. The resident season in the far north, for example, will begin on the third Saturday of September in any year.
- Moose hunting will be allowed in the Alongquin area from the Monday following October 18 to the succeeding Saturday every year, instead of alternate years, because the validation tag system allows wildlife managers to predictably control harvest levels. This is the first time in more than 20 years that hunting in the area has been allowed two years in a row.

- Wildlife Management Unit 6 in Northern Ontario -- an area served by many lodges and outfitters, will be opened to non-resident moose hunting.
- There will also be a new season for archers in Wildlife Management Unit 3 in Northwestern Ontario, thereby extending early archery seasons over Northern Ontario.

Hunters must purchase a moose hunting licence before they can apply for an adult moose validation tag in the computerized draw.

Application forms for tags are provided with the licences, which will go on sale in late March. To be eligible for the draw, applications must reach the Ministry of Natural Resources' Wildlife Branch in Toronto, or an MNR district office by 5 p.m., Wednesday, May 15, 1985. Hunters who entered, but did not receive a validation tag last year, will be given preference to ensure fair tag distribution.

Keep it clean, MNR urges people

From MINDEN MNR

At this time of year many people are enjoying out-of-doors winter activities such as ice fishing, snowmobiling, cross country skiing or even tobogganning and ice skating.

After all, if you can pack it in full surely you can carry out the empty container. A good example to others in this regard may just be contagious.

Did You Know?

By BAMBIL GILDER

Did you know...that the Haliburton Happy Community Gardeners will have a 'garden shed' located on Park Street East, for members of the community to start their spring seed planting? This will be a limited facility for the use of amateur gardeners and will be available for use at the end of February. To receive further information, please call your County Information Centre at 457-2733, however, there will be more information published regarding the garden shed.

It was kindly brought to our attention that the lending time and fees for the 'Loan Cupboard' in Haliburton differs from the one in Minden. Both are sponsored by the Canadian Red Cross Society, however, there is no set lending time period and no fee required for lending through the Minden Loan Cupboard.

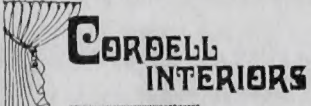

Please keep in mind that we are here to help people with problems regarding social, health, governmental and environmental subjects. If you have a problem, we can help. So why not give us a call or drop in to our office located in the Drag River Municipal Building in Haliburton. Office hours are from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. week days.

And remember, you will never know the answer, until you ask the question.

Frost campus needs more space, SSFC governors told

The Sir Sandford Fleming College Board of Governors met on January 28, 1985 at the Brealey Building of the Sutherland Campus in Peterborough.

Chairman Leslie Groombridge extended welcome to three new board members: Ken Jacobs, Peter Milner and Angus Read. He also brought board members up-to-date on the progress of board member Larry Mahon who was recently hospitalized.

President Charles Pascal spoke about the death of long-time board member William Whetung and his many social and educational contributions to Peterborough and area. He went on to announce that the new lecture theatre at the Brealey Building will be officially named the Whetung Theatre.

The president mentioned, with great regret, the death of Ray Kelk of the Sutherland Campus.

As an example of graduate entrepreneurship, Dr. Pascal noted that CRW Security, formed by a SSFC graduate, was awarded the contract for Outboard Marine Corp. He also circulated an article on the success of the Recreation Merchandising program.

Dr. Pascal commented on the college's recent capital funding success and thanked the board for its leadership in setting capital priorities. He stressed that the college's other classroom and maintenance capital needs will continue to be assessed and responded to.

With reference to the current difficulty in predicting the level of federal support for training, Dr. Pascal noted that training is one of four topics to be discussed at the PM's First Minister's Conference in February.

Current and projected activity plans for the Frost Campus indicate a need for additional space. The college is interested in exploring alternatives to alleviate the situation, if possible ones which do not necessitate construction.

In relation to the college's objectives of computer literacy for staff, the president outlined the payroll deduction plan towards the purchase of computers.

Attention was drawn to the upcoming Cathrae Lecture Series at the Frost Campus. The first speaker will be Bill Mason followed by Joe MacInnis.

Dr. Pascal also circulated a letter from the Peterborough County Board of Education which expressed thanks to Hal Peterson and several of his marketing students for their excellent survey of continuing education programs. An article on events at Algonquin College was distributed as a possible case study topic for the board's Finance and Property Committee. Copies of a summary of the Province's Conference on the Economy were circulated as well as the report of the college's recent China delegation.

Dugald McDonald, Rex Woollard and Jaan Teng reported on SSFC's participation, along with six other colleges, in a computer-assisted instruction project.

The chairman and the president detailed the college's procedures for reviewing the provincial collective bargaining system in order to assist the board in making its recommendations to the minister and the Council of Regents. Dr. Pascal commented on Mr. Goldenberg as an excellent choice for the role of arbitrator. Two of three members have been selected for the Instructional Assignments Review Committee. OPSEU has declined membership on the committee.

Groombridge and Pascal reported on a recent meeting of eastern chairmen, vice-chairmen and presidents during which issues arising from the faculty strike were the focus.

Tony Ross displayed a framed depiction of the 3-Penny Beaver stamp, designed by Sir Sandford Fleming, and presented to the college by Canada Post.

It was announced that the official opening of the Frost Campus -- the summer estate of the late Leslie Frost on Sturgeon Lake -- will take place on April 22.

Dr. Pascal provided a preliminary report on 1984 graduate job placement. 86 per cent of these graduates have successfully secured employment, an increase over 1983. Growth in business and technology is evident. Health sciences and natural resources are showing strong signs and applied arts remain stable.

Dr. Pascal added that in order to adapt to changing job market conditions, the college has developed a number of new program proposals which have been recently approved or will be presented for approval in the near future. At the Sutherland Campus, proposals include Food Service Supervision and Fashion Merchandising (formerly Home Economics), Convention Sales, Audio Video Graphics, Technical Sales, Industrial Management, Telephone Systems, Marine Motive Power Computer Numerical Control and Entrepreneurship and Venture Management. At the Frost Campus, proposals include Natural Resources Technologist - Law Enforcement, Aquaculture, Pit and Quarry Rehabilitation, Forest Development Worker, Urban Tree Maintenance -

Advanced, and Remote Sensing.

Lucinda Tiller and Nicole Theriault made a presentation on the role of the Placement Office, including expanded services, Career Week plans, and revisions to the upcoming placement reports.

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Forests not only for today but for tomorrow

Moreover, as these crumbling behemoths slowly rot back into earthen sustenance, they too provide habitat. For hares and rabbits, and countless other small mammals which take shelter, feed or reproduce in their hollows. For grouse, thrashers and chickadees - and literally dozens of other birds - which use the logs as ladders and nesting sites. For the predators, which depend upon these mammals and birds. And for reptiles and salamanders, whose very survival is based upon the rich buffet afforded by the creeping, seething mass of invertebrate life which gnaws and saws, hunts and flees, all within the log's steely shell.

Forests, clearly, are much more than short-term tree crops. Rather, they are vibrant ecosystems, hundreds - or even thousands - of years in the making. They also make the point - to all who will listen - that we should be managing our forests not so much for us as for our grandchildren.

That next piece of firewood has a tale to tell.

SOME OF MY CHILDHOOD DAYS AROUND COBOCONK

By CLARENCE TRUAX

I was born on a farm near Coboconk, back near Four Mile Lake
Moved to the Village when I was only eight
Into a house upon a hill
The lime kilns were behind us, they were back along the ledge

You could look right down Gull River, see the boat house and the dock.

The only thing that we had missing, we had no city clock.

Mr. Plewis ran the Grist Mill at one end of the dam

And over at the other end, was a store by John R. Ham.

Across the road was Fieldings; he ran the drug store there

And right next to him the Patty house, I think it still is there.

I remember all the merchants, Bob Windrims Grocery too

And next door was the Village Smithy, who put on all the shoes.

George Lake, he ran the barber shop, I got my hair cuts there.

George Richmond ran a grocery and I've often been in there.

I remember Dr. Austin, he pulled a tooth for me one day.

There was no dentist in the towns, so there was no other way.

I'll never forget the summers, when the logs came down the slides

And that dam across the river, clean to the other side.

And then there was the Tannery, which stood right out in view

It used to tan the pelts and make the leather look so new.

The logs would run for weeks through there, from up Mud Turtle Lake.

They used to run them all through there, what the

The saw mill used a lot of them, and cut them up for lumber.

They'd put a boom around them, and tow them over yonder.

When the river drive was ending, the logs all down the slide

The river drivers cabin with the curtains on the side

Would also take its plunge, while they all hung on inside.

It really was a thrilling sight to see that barge come over.

The saddest thing for me, it meant the drive was getting over.
But when the logs had cleared the way, the boat would come again
Burgoyne, he was the captain, and Wacuta was its name.
I rode that boat to Lindsay once and had a joyful day
Going through the locks at Rosedale and Fenelon on the way.
But coming home the lake was rough, kind of scared me in a way
But I was with my mother and that took my fears away.
We also had a train service, hauled passengers and freight
Would leave there every morning and come back again at night.
We also had a round house; this was the end of the line.

Bob Caseter was the night man there, he would make the engines shine.
They'd use the old turntable to turn the engine round
And at 7:10 each morning, it would again be Lindsay-bound.
My brother Walter ran the cartage, and he hauled stuff around the town.

He had a one horse wagon and I think his horse was brown.
My Coby story's ending but I like to stop and dwell
On the happy times I had back there, I think that they were swell.
I've been around a lot since then and seen a lot of places.

I've also seen a lot of folks with a lot of different faces.

I'm retired now in Oceanside in Californ-i-a
I think Coboconk is lovely, but I think I'm here to stay.

LAMENT FOR A STUMP FENCE

Oh, my beautiful stump fence.

You are no more!

Someone came and took you

While we went to mourn a dear cousin.

Now your place stands empty.

Bare -

No more will future generations of children

Climb, touch, admire, your strength and durability.

ity.

No more will they stand in awe and wonder

At the strength, the will, the struggle and the hope

Of their forefathers

Who cleared this land.

Someone with an eye for beauty

But utter disregard

For things irreplaceable

Has taken you.

You may grace a wall

Or adorn a living room

As clock or table

But the future generations

Have been robbed of their birthright

To know, to feel, to love

An old stump fence.

MIRACLES OF NATURE

Insensate rocks, hardened by your very nature,
Could you but see the refulgent glow
Of trees resplendent, grown from summer's verdure
Into radiant colours, shade beyond shade; to know
Briefly the power to awe, then abrogate
And let fall the glowing, radiant crown
To lie in fading, mouldering state
Which then becomes good earth, rich brown.

Ah, but rocks, that same evolving nature
Which above you formed the changing trees
Has worked in you another miracle
More lasting and more changing still than these.
From primitive birth in roiling, igneous flow,
Long ages cooling, separating, then apart;
A crystal has forgot the hellish glow
And become of rock, your secret heart.

Words of welcome to visitors...

*Paul Wilson,
Rotary president*

As President of the Haliburton Rotary Club I am pleased to welcome everyone to the 1985 edition of the Haliburton Winter Carnival, particularly those who have travelled from outside the County to join us.

I would like to thank all those members of the community who have contributed in their own way to make our carnival a reality and encourage everyone to come out and participate in support of these efforts. Get involved and I'm sure you won't be disappointed. Bring your friends and family and help to make this year's carnival better than ever!

Murray Fearrey, Dysart reeve

On behalf of Dysart et al council I would like to extend best wishes to the Haliburton Rotary Club for a successful 1985 Winter Carnival.

In scanning the list of events scheduled for this year's carnival it is apparent that the weekend should be a fun-filled one for the families of residents and visitors alike.

I trust the organizers' hard work will be rewarded by good weather and your participation.

*Rick Elstone,
carnival chairman*

Let me take this opportunity to welcome visitors and residents alike to the Haliburton Winter Carnival. Please accept this message as our invitation to take part in the carnival activities.

The committee of Don Popple, Dale Robinson and myself have worked hard to put together an exciting and action-packed weekend for everyone.

Whether you are a participant or an observer, the carnival's success depends on your presence.

Come out and join us for a weekend of fun.

Carnival '85 offers something for everyone

The 1985 version of Haliburton's winter carnival will get underway on Friday, February 15, and a full slate of activities are planned, with something of interest to every member of the family.

A weekend-long fish derby begins officially at 3 p.m. Friday, and will wind up at 2 p.m. Sunday. Weigh station for the derby is Easton's Red and White store on main street.

At 4 p.m. entries in the ice sculpture contest will be judged. A number of cash prizes will be up for grabs. To ensure that your entry is seen by the judges contact Marvin Varty at 457-1975 or Don Robinson at 457-2289.

The first of many family activities planned for the weekend will begin at 4 p.m. when the doors of the Dysart arena open for a free family skating party. The action will continue through to 7 p.m., and everyone is invited to take part.

To help you warm up and satisfy the appetite you build up in your trips around the ice, the Haliburton CGIT group have scheduled a chili supper from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. upstairs in the arena auditorium. Cost of the meal is $3 for adults and $2 for children.

At 6 p.m. the first rocks will be sent down the ice to begin the PineStone curling bonspiel. Rinks from many clubs throughout southern Ontario are expected to take part in the spiel, and spectators are always welcome in the club's large and comfortable lounge, which affords a good view of the on-ice action.

Hockey fans will want to head for the arena at 7:30 p.m. to cheer on the Haliburton OMHA Atoms who will be trying for a playoff win against Canington. The team would appreciate your moral and vocal support.

At 9 p.m. a teen dance gets underway at the Haliburton Legion, with music supplied by a disc jockey. A highlight of the event will be the crowning of the carnival queen and princesses.

A scene from last year's figure skating club presentation

The carnival continues on Sunday with a number of activities that should appeal to the whole family.

Church services will take place between 10 a.m. and noon at all local churches, and there's no need to dress formally. People in winter attire are welcome to join any of the congregations.

At noon Ken Langdon will lead a snowmobile trip for experienced adult riders, weather permitting, and at 1:30, a family ride will be led by Scott LaRue. Both rides will begin at the government dock in Haliburton.

One of the happiest and most memorable events of the winter carnival is certain to be the show put on by the local figure skating club. It begins at 2:30 p.m., and the theme this year is 'The Greatest Show on Ice', featuring clowns, lions, dancing girls and many other surprises.

Also taking place Sunday afternoon, weather permitting, are ATC and snowmobile races on Head Lake, with trophies up for grabs in a number of classes. For more information contact Pat Kennedy at 457-1771.

At Sir Sam's ski area, the Curry Motors giant slalom race gets underway at 1:30 p.m., and everyone who wishes is welcome to participate.

Sunday is also the day for the third annual International Dart tournament at the Legion. It begins at noon and is expected to continue through to about 6:00 p.m. This year the local players will be trying to repeat their performance of last year, when they managed to beat their British counterparts, to whom the Legion will be linked by telephone. It's an exciting event, and one that many people won't want to miss.

All in all, the 1985 carnival promises to be a busy and enjoyable one, so come out and take part. Your participation will help make the organizers' time and effort worthwhile.

Numerous events slated for Saturday

Saturday is the busiest day of this year's winter carnival, and it gets off to an early start with the traditional and ever-popular trappers' pancake breakfast at the Haliburton Legion. Pancakes, sausages, maple syrup and coffee will be available in abundance, and for a very reasonable price.

At 8 a.m. curlers will take to the ice once again to continue playdowns in the PineStone bonspiel. Spectators are welcome throughout the day.

Cross country skiers are invited to head for the Haliburton museum between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. to get a look at the latest equipment. Under a co-operative venture between the local Nordic Trails Association, the Ontario Ski Council and Karhu, a major equipment manufacturer, up to 100 complete sets of equipment will be available for use by the public. A number of trails in the area of Glebe Park will be groomed and track set in preparation for the event, and the emphasis will be on participation.

Also at 10 a.m. the ladies of the Eastern Star will begin their bake sale in the showroom at Curry Motors. It's an excellent opportunity to stock up on a wide assortment of goodies to see you through the weekend.

Snowmobile drag races are scheduled for Head Lake on Saturday afternoon, weather and ice conditions permitting, and registration for the seven classes up for grabs will begin in the area of the government dock at 11 a.m. with races to get underway at 1 p.m.

The Rails' End Gallery will be open throughout the day on Saturday with a show that will feature crafts from Haliburton's past as well as the work of contemporary local artisans. Guild members also will be on hand to demonstrate their artistic skills, and hot cider and muffins will be on sale.

Skiers will be kept busy on carnival weekend

A winter carnival in Haliburton means more than dances, lumberjack contests, bonspiels and snowmobile races, although these events certainly are among the highlights of a busy and enjoyable weekend. Carnival time also means opportunities for cross country and downhill ski enthusiasts to sample some of the best that Haliburton has to offer.

For those who would enjoy a quiet day on some of the top cross country ski trails in the province, Glebe Park is the place to be on Saturday. This is the starting point of the Jim Beef Trail, a rugged and beautiful route that winds through thick forest for many kilometres before linking up with the extensive network of trails and the PineStone Inn and country club. From Glebe Park skiers can set out on short or long tours, depending on the time they have available on their skill level.

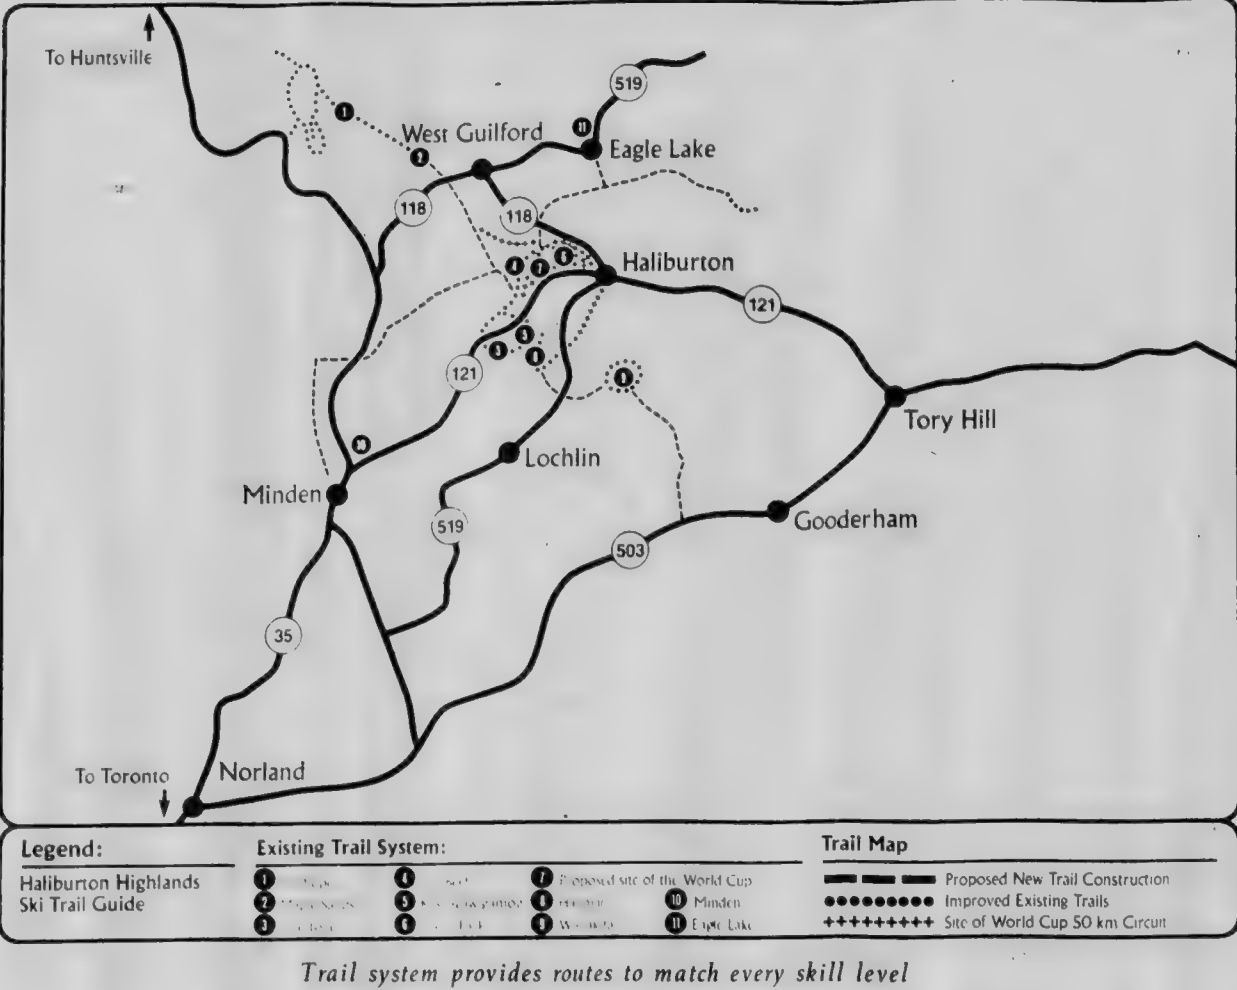

There'll even be a chance for those new to the sport to try out the latest in equipment. The Canadian Ski Council, in cooperation with Karhu, a major cross country equipment manufacturer, is planning to bring a van containing a wide selection of skis, boots, poles and other gear to Glebe Park. Anyone is welcome to come out and try the gear, talk to the experts and learn more about this very popular and physically rewarding sport.

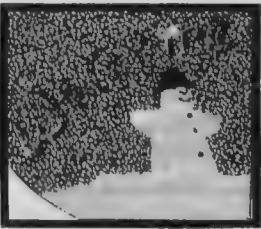

If you decide to go for a ski along the Jim Beef trail, be sure to dress in several layers of appropriate clothing, pack an extra ski tip in case of breakage, and take along a chocolate bar or some trail mix of nuts, grains and fruit for energy. And be sure to take your refuse with you after you've stopped for a rest. Everyone should do their part to ensure that local trails remain neat and tidy.

For downhill skiers the season has been late getting started, but since early January conditions have been excellent at Sir Sam's ski area in Eagle Lake. And to help downhill enthusiasts get into the carnival spirit, Sir Sam's will hold its annual Skinanigans on Saturday, February 16. For that day only, anyone who dresses up in a weird and wacky costume can buy an all-day life ticket for half price.

On Sunday, skiers will have opportunity for some friendly competition. The Curry Motors giant slalom race is scheduled to get underway at 1:30 p.m. and anyone can enter. The winner will be awarded the Curry Motors trophy, and other prizes also will be available.

All in all, carnival weekends promises to be an exciting one for skiers, so whether you're a nordic or downhill enthusiast, be sure and make plans to take part. These days, Haliburton and skiing are almost synonymous.

Lumbermen's show a test of skills

Tree falling, cross cut sawing, chair carving contests planned

Ken and Ross McKnight won this event at Carnival '84

The roar of chainsaws and the rasp of crosscut teeth will resound over Head Lake again this year as the Lumbermen's show returns to the Haliburton Winter Carnival. The event offers professional loggers and backyard amateurs a chance to compete in a number of events designed to test their skills as modern day woodsmen.

Competition will begin at 2 p.m. and should provide plenty of action for spectators as well as for those who want to participate.

In the chainsaw competition, the object is to cut two slices off a twelve-inch log held firmly in a saw horse. The competition begins with the saw on the ground and turned off, and ends when the slices have been cut and the saw is turned off again. Ed Heard took the trophy in the event at the 1983 carnival.

A second event pits muscles against logs. It's the traditional crosscut saw competition in which a two-person team races against the clock to cut through a 12-inch log. Technique and teamwork are the keys to success here. Competition was particularly keen in this category last year, with Ken and Ross McKnight edging out Buck Cowan and Grant Clement for first place.

The third event planned for this year's Lumbermen's show is the tree felling competition. Several poles will be set up, and competitors will attempt to 'fell' the tree trunk so that it falls as close as possible to a predetermined spot. This event demands expertise with a chainsaw, since the precision of the notching is the main factor in determining where the tree will land. John Dunsmore was the victor last year.

A fourth event will challenge competitors to carve a chair from a short length of log using nothing more than a chainsaw.

Saturday's schedule of events has something for everyone

From noon through 2 p.m., yet another family activity is planned -- crazy carpet riding on the hill behind Victoria Street School. This activity is always a favourite with youngsters, and it's one you won't want to miss when you're making your list of things to do at this year's carnival.

Downhill skiers also will find special events taking place in conjunction with the carnival. Sir Sam's near Eagle Lake has scheduled its annual Skinanigans event for Saturday. The idea is to dress up in outlandish costumes for a day of fun on the slopes, and those who accept the challenge can purchase a lift ticket for half price.

One of the highlights of last year's carnival was the Lumbermen's show at the Dysart community centre, and it's scheduled to get underway again this year, at 2 p.m. Competitions include tree falling, log sawing, cross cut sawing, and chair carving. A number of trophies will be up for grabs, and the competition is open to everyone who feels comfortable handling the appropriate tools and machinery.

Youngsters who get a little restless on carnival Saturday, and parents who want to take a brief rest, will find just what they need at CHACE Place at the Lakeview Centre. This facility caters primarily to preschoolers, and offers a wide selection of toys and equipment for the youngsters to play with. There'll also be free coffee for parents.

Another attraction which could not be confirmed but which will be of interest to many people if it takes place, is ultralight aircraft demonstration at 1 p.m. in the area of Head Lake. These tiny flying machines have growing in popularity, and their colourful wings make a pretty sight silhouetted against a blue sky.

From 4 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. the ladies of St. Anthony's church will put on a lasagna supper at the Haliburton Legion, and it's something you won't want to miss, especially since the price is reasonable and the portions are sure to be generous.

Two events will make for an enjoyable evening on Saturday. At 8:30 p.m. the OMHA Midgets will meet Fenelon Falls in what is certain to be an exciting playoff match at the Dysart arena, and at 9 p.m., the gala carnival dance gets underway at Haliburton Legion. Music will be supplied by 'China Heart'. No minors will be allowed to attend. A highlight of the dance will be a draw for an expenses paid weekend for two in Toronto.

Curlers vie for prizes

Spectators welcome to watch the action

One of the anchor activities of the Haliburton winter carnival is the PineStone Invitational curling bonspiel. It's an event that gives curling enthusiasts from many clubs throughout southern Ontario a chance to test their skills in some keen but friendly competition.

The spiel attracts as many as 24 rinks, with each team scheduled to play at least three games before the finals get underway.

While the action is geared to curlers, spectators also have plenty of opportunity to be a part of the spiel. The club's lounge has big viewing windows, and there's lots of space to sit back with some refreshment and be an armchair skip.

The emphasis in the carnival spiel is on good times, interspersed with some hard work on the ice as the teams vie for an array of valuable prizes. So why not catch some of the action when you need a break from outdoor activities? You'll find the curling club to be a warm and friendly place on carnival weekend.

Action begins Friday evening and wraps up Sunday.

Logging show tests skills

The winner is the competitor who accomplishes the feat in the shortest time, and last year the trophy went to Buck Cowan, who also took a first, two seconds and a third in other events.

Winners of each event will receive trophies for their efforts, as well as applause from what is sure to be an enthusiastic gathering of spectators.

In these days of wood stoves and wood burning furnaces, when just about every local resident has a wood pile in his backyard, there are sure to be dozens of skilled cutters and choppers out there who'd like to test their skills and have some fun at the same time.

And who knows? It could be that the amateurs will give the professionals a run for the trophies.

PineStone bonspiel begins Friday, ends Sunday

Gala carnival dance set for Saturday

If you enjoy going out to a dance in the community and meeting new people, you'll have that opportunity during this year's winter carnival. Two dances are planned, one geared specifically for teenagers and the other, with a live band, for the adult crowd.

On Friday night local teens can get together in the auditorium of the Haliburton Legion and dance to the music of a disc jockey. A highlight of the night will be the crowning of the carnival queen and her princesses. The competition is open to local high school students, and selection of the winners will be made earlier in the week. The lucky young ladies will receive cash prizes courtesy of the Rotary Club, and will attend many of the weekend's activities.

Saturday night has been set aside for the gala carnival dance.

This very popular event will be held at the Legion, and will feature live music by 'China Heart'.

A special occasion permit is in effect for this dance, and no minors will be admitted.

One lucky couple at the dance will win an expenses-paid weekend in Toronto.

Eliminations will determine who will play for the title

Locals will defend title against Brits

A sporting event with an international flavour will take place on carnival Sunday.

A team of darts players from the Red Lion Pub in Deadman's Cross (near Bedford, England) will challenge players from Legion Branch 129 in seven "singles" matches. The most score 301, the last points coming on a difficult "double".

Although the idea has been tried before, notably in Welland, Ontario, it is only the third time it has been held in Haliburton.

It will be interesting to see just how well our local players can fare against veteran English dart

Competitors linked by phone to pub in Deadman's Cross interesting aspect of the game is that no English players will set foot in Haliburton -- the game will be played over long-distance telephone.

Over in England elimination playoffs are underway to determine the seven best -- the players who will represent the pub. At this end, playoffs are also nearing the end.

Sunday afternoon seven players from Haliburton will stand ready. A call will be placed to Deadman's Cross.

With players at both ends ready, single games of "301" will be played -- one at a time. The game is fairly simple -- players try to score as high as they can until they near the exact total -- 301. To finish they must players. Last year, the local team showed the English enthusiasts how its done, as Jim Hobson, Reg Crockett, John Briggs, Bernard Bain and Geordie Vincent were declared the winners.

Everyone is welcome to attend the matches. The doors of Branch 129 will open at 12 noon and remain open until 6:00.

The make the game a little quicker, the usual "double in" provision in singles play will be done away with. Players will simply begin by trying to score as many points as possible, then "double out" at 301.

Why not take the time out and drop by the Legion on Sunday? It will be well worth the visit -- that's for sure.

Gallery show includes crafts from Haliburton's past and present

The Rails' End Gallery in Haliburton will take an active part in this year's carnival, affording visitors and local residents a chance to experience some of Haliburton's past and present in a very attractive setting.

On carnival weekend the Gallery will reopen after a six-week break with a show featuring crafts dating back to, pioneer times as well as the types of work being produced by artisans living in the community now.

The craft items on display from Haliburton's earlier days were essential for daily living, while many of the articles that area crafts enthusiasts make in their studios and workshops are at least as beautiful as they are functional.

Lasagna dinner a carnival bargain

If you're a pasta lover (is there anybody out there who isn't?), you'll be happy to know that a long tradition will be continued at the 1985 Haliburton winter carnival. What tradition? The one involving the women of St. Anthony's Church in Haliburton, who, as just about every citizen of the community knows by now, make some of the best spaghetti and lasagna to be found anywhere. Once again this year they'll be offering carnival-goers a chance to fill up on a traditional Italian specialty.

The feast begins at 4 p.m. and continues through 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, February 16 in the auditorium of Haliburton Legion. There'll be huge dishes of lasagna and wine to go with the meal, all at a bargain price, and in very generous portions.

So mark the date and place on your carnival calendar and get set for a treat. These dinners are eagerly anticipated, and if you haven't tried them, you owe it to yourself to find out why the rave reviews are so well deserved.

And besides, pasta is good for you!

CHACE open to youngsters

Parents can sip free coffee while children play

If you've brought youngsters to the carnival and you find they're getting a little tired or chilly, CHACE place is offering you a chance to relax with coffee and hot chocolate while the children play with some of the scores of toys CHACE has in its cupboards.

CHACE is an acronym for the County of Haliburton Agency for Child Enrichment, a provincially-funded facility that helps youngsters learn to socialize and develop fine motor and other skills through play and creative activities.

CHACE is located in the Lakeview Centre on Highway 118 at the northern exit from the village. Besides the indoor playroom, CHACE also has a small tobogganing hill that's perfect for pre-schoolers.

If you've got young children and you've never visited CHACE, the carnival might be the perfect opportunity for you to do so. The facility will be open on Saturday from 10 a.m. through 4 p.m., and may also be open from noon to 3 p.m. on Sunday.

There is no charge for CHACE's services throughout the weekend.

Ski-nanigans scheduled for Saturday at Sir Sam's

Try your hand at ice sculpture and you could win a cash prize

If you think you've got some hidden artistic talent and you're looking for an opportunity to have some fun in the snow, why not get your family together and try your hands at creating a snow or ice sculpture for this year's carnival. It will help create a carnival atmosphere in the community and it could also earn you a cash prize.

You'll find that the things you need are right at hand. There's plenty of snow. Just shovel it into a pile, add a bucket or two of water, and let your imagination run free. With some good warm gloves, perhaps a couple of trowels for fine shaping and some hot chocolate waiting on the stove, you can create a masterpiece and have a good time doing it.

Once again there will be two categories in which to compete.

Schools, clubs and other groups who put their collective imagination to work will be eligible for three prizes, worth $25, $20 and $15.

Individuals can also compete for prizes of $20 and $10.

Judging will take place at 4 p.m. on Friday, February 15. If you're interested in entering, contact Marvin Varty at 457-1975 or Don Robinson at 457-2289 to arrange a viewing.

Free sleigh rides on carnival days

If you've always had a yen to take an old-fashioned, horse-drawn sleigh ride but haven't had the opportunity up to now, you'll get your chance during carnival weekend.

On Saturday, a team and sleigh will be on hand at the Dysart community centre to take youngsters and the young at heart for rides. And on Sunday, the location will switch to Head Lake, where a large number of spectators will be on hand for snowmobile racing.

On either day, you'll be able to rest your feet, listen to the creak of harness and hiss of runners on clean snow, while you watch the world go by at a leisurely pace.

And best of all, the rides are free, compliments of the Haliburton Rotary Club.

Crazy carpet rides are fun for everyone

Youngsters have been practising it at recess and after school for month now, ever since the first snowfall made the hill at Victoria Street School a great place to slide. And on Saturday afternoon, February 16, the young at heart as well as the young will have a chance to experience the thrill of a run down the ice slick slopes on a slippery length of plastic known as a crazy carpet.

Crazy carpet riding has become one of the most informal and enjoyable activities of the winter carnival, and if the weatherman smiles on the proceedings again this year, it ought to draw large crowds to Victoria Street School once again.

Action gets underway at noon and continues to 2 p.m.

There's plenty of room on the slopes for everyone who wants to give it a try, and you don't have to be a youngster to enjoy the sensation of speed and exhilaration that only a crazy carpet ride can bring.

Free skating party kicks off carnival

One of the first events to kick off this year's Haliburton winter carnival also promises to be one of the most enjoyable. It's a family skating party that gets underway at the Dysart arena at 4:00 p.m. and will continue through 7 p.m. Admission is free, and everyone is invited to dig out those skates and take some leisurely turns around the rink.

And if the exercise helps you work up an appetite, there's no need to head for home. Just make your way upstairs to the arena auditorium where the local CGIT group will be serving a chili supper. The price is $3.00 for adults and $2.00 for children, edge off your hunger.

So come on out to the arena on Friday afternoon. It's a perfect way to get started on a full slate of carnival activities.

Slipping and sliding at Victoria Street School

Bake sale set

If the thought of homemade baked goods sets your mouth watering, the showroom at Curry Motors is the place you'll want to be at noon on Saturday. That's where the ladies of the Eastern Star organization will hold their annual carnival bake sale.

As in past years, the sale will feature a big selection of pies, cakes, cookies and squares -- just the thing to go along with the hot coffee you'll want to enjoy at the end of a winter day in Haliburton. But take note -- the goodies go fast, so be sure to get to the sale on time for the best selection.

Fish derby winner announced on Sunday

Fishermen will have an opportunity to make their favourite sport part of the carnival again this year through the fish derby contest.

A prize will be awarded for the largest fish caught during the three-day weekend.

Weigh-in station for the contest is Easton's Red and White in Haliburton village, and anglers can take their catches in to be tested on the scales from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and from noon to 2 p.m. on Sunday.

Competition was excellent in last year's fish derby, and this year is expected to be equally competitive, as fishermen bait their hooks and tempt the trout in an effort to come up with a big one.

There was no question who won the ice fishing competition last year. Gord McWalters of Haliburton landed a 4.73 kg. pickerel (almost 10 and a half pounds). The year before McWalters also landed a big pickerel, weighing 5.3 pounds, but the top prize went to Art Ouellette with a nine pound speckled trout.

With so many avid ice fishermen dipping lines in local lakes, competition should be keen again this year.

The winner will be announced at 2 p.m. after the weigh scales close.

Skating carnival a crowd pleaser

For sheer beauty and excitement, few sports can match the appeal of figure skating. The grace of the movements and the demands they make on body and mind have made figure skating one of the most popular of all winter activities. Television coverage of international competitions has turned top figure skaters into celebrities, and ice shows are flourishing.

It is at the local level, though, that skating has really found its strength. In community arenas across the country, youngsters spend long hours practising turns, spins, school figures and jumps under the watchful eye of coaches who offer encouragement, advice and the kind of motivation and constructive criticism that can turn a promising skater into an Olympic champion.

In Haliburton, figure skating attracts a substantial number of youngsters with junior skaters practising two nights a week and senior skaters on the ice three times a week throughout the winter months.

On Sunday, February 17, parents, relatives and friends will have an opportunity to see the results of all this dedication, as the Haliburton club stages its annual carnival show. As many as 67 skaters are expected to take part in 'The Greatest Show on Ice', which will feature clowns, tigers and lions, a circus band, show girls and other circus characters skating to lively music.

The show begins at 2:30 p.m. Admission is $3 for adults, $1 for children 12 and under with pre-schoolers admitted free. Advance tickets are expected to be on sale soon.

A draw for $100 also will be held, and tickets are available from club supporters.

The figure skating carnival is certain to bring a smile to your face and warmth to your heart, so why not plan to be at the Dysart arena on Sunday afternoon. It's a fitting way to bring the winter carnival to a close.

Pancake breakfast held Saturday

What could be more Canadian than pancakes and maple syrup on a frozen February morning? And what could be better than to enjoy them in the company of friends without having to lift a finger to cook or serve.

If you like hearty breakfasts, you won't want to miss the meal that will be served up on Saturday morning at the Haliburton Legion. Every year, hundreds of people take advantage of the chance to dig into a mound of flapjacks swimming in syrup, topped off with sausages hot off the griddle. But there is always

Snowmobile events are popular with many carnival participants

First carnival held in 1969

The weekend of February 15-17 will mark the 17th anniversary of the Haliburton Winter Carnival, an event that has grown from humble beginnings to become one of the highlights of the winter season for residents and visitors alike.

Today's carnival includes a mixture of traditional events as well as new ones, with something for just about everyone. Months of planning help to ensure success. But one uncontrollable factor could threaten the 1985 carnival; the weather. And in that respect, today's carnival is no different from the first one, when the village was caught up in the excitement of trying something for the first time.

For years prior to 1969 the Rotary Club, local citizens and various organizations talked about staging a winter carnival, but the idea was not acted on. Then, in November of 1968, Wayne Wood, the present clerk-administrator for the Municipality of Dysart et al, called a meeting of interested citizens to see if a winter carnival could be organized. Twenty people turned out, including six members of the Rotary Club, Peter Curry, Art Ward, Cliff Dawson, Grant Rae, Rae McKinnon, Bob Bishop Jr., and other interested citizens. Art Ward and Peter Curry were elected co-chairmen for the event. Both men worked hard in an effort to put that first carnival together.

Under their direction, all the organizations in Haliburton and surrounding area rallied together.

Headquarters were set up in the old Grand Central Hotel on the main street which was vacant at that time. Later, Dr. Fred Griffith, who owned the building, turned it into a department store but offered the committee one section of the building to set up an office.

The third week of January was the date for the first carnival, and after months of hard work and preparation the show was ready to go on the road. On the Friday morning of the first carnival, weather conditions turned bad. It was raining hard and it continued all day long, completely demolishing the ice sculptures. In the afternoon, with the rain still coming down, a decision had to be made whether to go ahead with the carnival or cancel it. Co-chairmen Art Ward and Peter Curry were on the spot. Half the people wanted it called off while the other half said go ahead. It was soon decided that rain or no rain, the carnival would go on as scheduled. The tide started to turn on Friday evening when the rain ceased. By Saturday cold had returned and the carnival was underway.

John Beachli provided a gas fired heater to heat the office and Betty Hodgson donated her services as the headquarters secretary. She worked hard handing out free coffee, answering the phone, writing letters and sending out news releases to radio and newspapers. She continued on in this capacity for the next two or three years. A loud speaker system was set up outside the committee headquarters playing lively music, and some local people, caught up

Races will depend on weather

Snowmobile racing has been one of the most popular activities at recent Haliburton winter carnivals, and if the weather cooperates, it should be a crowd-pleasing event again this year.

Two days of racing are planned. On Saturday, the action will centre on a snow-covered drag strip to be created on Head Lake.

Breakfast

plenty to go around, and since the local Rotarians begin serving at 7:30 a.m. and continue right through to 11 a.m. there should be no trouble with lineups.

The Trappers Pancake Breakfast -- it's a carnival highlight you won't want to miss.

Registration for the event closes at noon hour, and racing is expected to begin at 1 p.m.

Entrants will compete in one or more of seven stock classes, and there will also be four 'open' classes for the more exotic machinery. Entry fee is $5 for the stock classes and the prizes consist of trophies for first and second place finishers.

Competitors in the open classes will pay a $25 entry fee, with 75 per cent of the entry money earmarked to come back as prize money to the top finishers.

On Sunday, three wheelers as well as snowmobilers will be involved in an afternoon of racing. The ATC racing will begin at 2:30 p.m., with trophies up for grabs in four classes - up to 150 cc; 151 - 200 cc; 201 - 250

cc; and a performance class for modified vehicles.

Entry fee for these races is $5.

Organizers also hope to hold cross country snowmobile races on Head Lake if snow and ice conditions permit. There could be as many as six classes up for grabs - Fan to 400 cc; Fan 400 cc and over; Free Air and Liquid to 400 cc; FA and Liq. over 400 cc; a pro stock class with a 60 hp. limit, and an open stock class.

A decision on whether or not the races will be held will be made by Monday, February 11 and announced in the Echo of that week so prospective racers will have less chance of being disappointed.

Anyone who wants more information on the races should contact Pat Kennedy at 457-1771.

Take a guided snowmobile trip on Sunday and see the local countryside

If you're a snowmobile enthusiast and you'd like to become a little more familiar with some of the excellent trails that wind through the countryside from Haliburton village, carnival organizers have come up with just the thing for you. On Sunday, two guided trips are planned.

At noon, Ken Langdon will lead a trip for experienced riders, departing from the government dock on Head Lake. The choice of trails will be made on the day of the ride, based on prevailing conditions.

At 1:30, Scott LaRue will guide a shorter and less demanding ride suitable for families and those who want to travel at a relaxing pace.

This trip, too, will depart from the government dock, and everyone is welcome to take part.

Winter carnival mascot selected through contest

On February 15, the first day of the Haliburton Rotary Winter Carnival, the character with a toque for a body and skates on his feet will celebrate his 17th birthday.

Toquepic, as he is known, has been turning up in Haliburton County ever since the first winter carnival was held in Haliburton in 1969.

And this year, in a tradition that's as much a part of the carnival as parades, trappers' breakfasts and dances, Toquepic has come back again to act as symbol and mascot for the winter carnival festivities.

The story of Toquepic (though he wasn't called that at the time) goes back to the first winter carnival committee. They wanted a symbol to go along with that first carnival, something that would stay in people's minds, and that would represent the spirit of outdoor, winter activities in the Highlands.

The call went out for ideas from local citizens, and in a short time nearly 100 people had submitted designs for a carnival logo and mascot.

Art Ward, who was a member of that first committee, recalls among the 100 submissions were 30 from one man, a potter who had a studio near Irondale. The committee liked his submissions, and from among the 30 designs they chose the present symbol, the creature based on a toque who wears sunglasses and skates.

He remained officially nameless that first year, but by the second year of the carnival, it was agreed that a name should be found that would suit the drawing.

Ideas once again were sought and this time more than 300 names were submitted. The winning entry, "Toquepic", was submitted by a 14 year old boy from Rexdale.

Since then, Toquepic has made his appearance in the Haliburton County Echo and on carnival related literature every year as carnival time approaches.

Over the 14-year history of the carnival, Toquepic has been made into dolls, some as large as four feet high, and has found his way onto numerous parade floats and into many ice sculptures. He has appeared in advertisements,

*Toquepic tradition as old
as the carnival*

has written a column in the Echo, been printed on buttons, and has been turned into toques for sale as souvenirs of the Haliburton Winter Carnival.

Three years ago, ARC Industries workers turned out dozens of Toquepics, each about two feet high, and they were hung on poles along Main Street for throughout the carnival. These Toquepics are going up again this year.

Toquepic was there at the beginning and it's expected that he will be there year after year, so long as there's a winter carnival in Haliburton village.

Carnival Pic of the Past

This weekend of February 15, 16 and 17 will mark the 17th anniversary of the Haliburton Winter Carnival, an event that has grown from humble beginnings to become one of the highlights of the winter season for residents and visitors alike. This year will be no exception and we can all look forward to another fun-filled weekend. In keeping with the carnival spirit we are featuring this photo of one of the winning floats in a carnival parade held quite a number of years ago. In recent years the parade has been dropped from the carnival schedule but many are looking forward to the time when the carnival parade will once again come down the main street. Shown in the photo is Catherine Rouble in costume and holding a stick attached to a paper heart. (Photo by Dal Hubbert)
